School district plans heavy cuts in budget

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Facing a $1.2 million budget deficit and an "enemy" in the governor's mansion, the Romulus Community School Board is preparing to sharpen its budget axe this Monday night in an attempt to come close to creating a balanced budget by end of this school year.

Gov. John Engler, described as a "demagogue" and "enemy of the public school concept," took the heaviest verbal shots of the evening from Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell.

Bedell told the gathering that he had been invited to hear Engler's school funding proposals first hand Tuesday by State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor).

Among the immediate cuts in the current budget suggested by the school board's finance committee were $10,000 worth of field trips, $25,000 in in-service training, more than $140,000 in supplies, a $40,000 high school attendance position and various district social workers, totaling $140,000 in salaries.

The total line cuts listed by the school finance committee came to $478,200 for this school year and another $543,200 for the 1994-95 school year.

Some of the cuts would also include trimming back some teaching positions.

A high school counselor position could be cut in the second semester and class size could be changed among other line items that could slice another $622,200 from the current budget.

Several parents and teachers asked that the initial cuts be made without affecting the students so heavily.

One letter was submitted to the board on behalf of special education teacher Joan Williamson, urging that the school district's central office take some of the cuts, including two of the four secretaries and one of the two receptionists.

Williamson also recommended other secretarial cuts throughout the district and the elimination of one of the two senior high assistant principal posts.

She also urged cutting building budgets by 20 percent and asked that parent groups purchase "special" supplies.

Lynne Cadden, a Hale-Creek School secretary and long-time parent activist, read her letter to the board, urging them to:

- cut breakfast and lunches for staff members paid by district funds.
- end Saturday classes.
- limit lunch aides to one per classroom.
- end all overtime pay.
- eliminate all after school buses.
- limit bus drivers to eight hours work a day.
- as a last resort, eliminate art, music and gym.

A district social worker, Richard Spring, asked the

Case open Results of court probe still sought

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Official state final reports on the recent audit and State Police criminal investigation of financial operations at the 34th District Court are currently being sought by the Associated Newspapers and the District Court Control Unit at the Romulus-based district court.

Prior to the recent filings, 34th District Court Administrator Nancy Schuette resigned her $55,000 position after being on paid leave for approximately six months.

Her assistant, Tammy Riopelle, remains on such a paid leave, while Probation Department chief Carol Bowman, serves as acting administrator.

Chief Judge William Szlinis revealed two weeks ago that a search for a new court administrator had begun and advertisements for the position are now appearing in area newspapers including the Associated Newspapers.

The advertisements ask applicants to submit their resumes by no later than Oct. 22, and set a stating salary at $43,000. Szlinis said the salary could be raised depending upon the successful applicant's background and education.

Applications will be screened by a three-member screening committee's choices. Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally (part of the court's control unit) said she will keep a close eye on the developments at the court and acknowledged that the control unit had filed the search letter with the state Attorney General's office.

It was reported that Schuette was not one of the previous screening committee's choices.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally (part of the court's control unit) said she will keep a close eye on the developments at the court and acknowledged that the control unit had filed the search letter with the state Attorney General's office.

The control unit will proceed with the U.S. Attorney General's office in Detroit, if it doesn't get a timely response from the state, McAnally said.

"I'm sure the court is embarrassed over the audit and criminal probe," McAnally said, "but when I asked for similar action two years ago, I was told by then Chief Judge Henry Zaborowski 'don't meddle in the affairs of the court.'"

McAnally said she hopes "something good will come from this investigation and change of personnel," but won't take anything for granted.

Under the state Freedom of Information Act, Associated Newspapers Publisher Susan Willett also wrote to Michigan State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley requesting "all findings and applicable reports concerning the audit performed by your office and the Michigan State Police at the 34th District Court located in Romulus."

To date there has been no reported response to any inquiry seeking the findings of the audit.

Incumbent mayor forsees major growth, challenges for city

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

This is the first of three stories on the uncontested city races this November. Articles on Romulus City Clerk Linda Choate and Treasurer Jim Napiorkowski will follow.

Five-time Mayor Beverly McAnally, who admits to being the lowest paid full-time mayor in Wayne County, also acknowledges she did not get into city government because of money considerations.

Two decades ago McAnally began the first of her three terms on the Romulus City Council. In 1979 she sought the treasurer's office and was elected twice.

Then, in 1983 she challenged incumbent Mayor William Oakley, defeated him and has been the mayor since that time. This is the fourth time that she is running unopposed for the top city office.

In a wide ranging interview on Monday, 66-year-old McAnally acknowledged great pride in the fact that many of the projects she has staked her administration on are now coming to fruition.

Many of our city residents' greatest dreams will not occur until Romulus' population takes a tremendous hike, McAnally said, thus it is important that a wide variety of new housing be established throughout the city.

This past weekend, McAnally and various city council members attended a grand opening of the Beverly Woods subdivision, adjacent to Joan and Middlebelt roads.

The moderate-priced homes made available there, along with the recent addition of manufactured homes in other subdivisions, should be of tremendous value to the young homeowner and the downsizing senior citizen, McAnally said.

In addition, upscale homes will soon be added to another 320-acre site, formerly owned by Wayne County, in the area of Merriman and Van Born roads.

This subdivision also will contain a public 18-hole golf course and a commercial shopping strip, McAnally said, and hopefully should attract a number of area business management style residents.

Another upscale series of houses will also be added to the available homes in the upcoming Heath Point subdivision.

In addition to housing, McAnally is anticipating the beginning of the long awaited Wick Road intersection and hopefully with it the construction of the much talked about Metro World complex.

With massive cutbacks in city and state revenues now on the tax books, McAnally realizes that city governments have to be more aggressive in their hunt for tax dollars.

With the future of tax abatements and Tax Increment Finance Authorities in question, McAnally feels that cities must seek out industries, possible convention center developers and even gambling casinos if they are to survive in this economically troubled time.

A taxing issue

School finance debate opens a 'can of worms'

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

At a Monday morning meeting of the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara questioned the wisdom of abolishing school property taxes.

Calling property taxes the "most steady source of money," McNamara expressed interest in hearing the governor's education reform plan slated to be announced the following day.

With $6 billion in education funds slashed, Gov. John Engler has been sending up "trial balloons" on proposals to replace funds which were slashed when the passage of Senate Bill 1 eliminated school property taxes.

"Somehow those tax dollars have to be replaced," said McNamara noting that the unexpected passage of Senate Bill 1 placed Gov. John Engler in the uncomfortable position of "running like hell to get in front of the people he was leading."

Prior to his official announcement, Engler had proposed a 2-cent increase in the state sales tax, which must be approved by the voters, a 16-mill property tax on businesses and owners of second homes, a 2 to 4 percent tax on real estate transactions and a 50-cents per pack tax on cigarettes.

"The only people who won't be complaining about that are the smokers. They are too intimidated to complain," McNamara said. "Voters already turned down a sales tax increase, real estate people won't be pleased about the transaction tax and business owners who were paying 40 mills probably won't complain too much about a restoration of 16 mills."

McNamara noted that property taxes are the most stable source of school funding.

"Educators need that surety and permanency of property taxes," McNamara said. "Sales taxes and income taxes are flexible. Of the two, sales taxes are the least objectionable. Income taxes are viewed as reprehensible."

The county executive recognized the plight of communities with Tax Increment Finance Authorities (TIFA), which have "almost totally lost their funding" with the passage of Senate Bill 1. The loss of captured school property taxes will force cities and townships to seek alternate sources to repay their TIFA bonds, placing an additional burden on local communities, he said.

Another method of funding schools would be to divert $700 million in state revenues which were earmarked for local communities to education. That plan would leave local communities scrambling to replace the lost state revenue by increasing local taxes.

"I think, the governor will propose to stop making payments to local governments. That means, if $700 million is not replaced, there will be smaller police departments and fewer fire stations," McNamara predicted. "Shifting taxes to local governments is totally unacceptable."

McNamara, who served for five years on a Dearborn Township school board, had some criticism for state educators.

He started his criticism with the scheduling of June school elections, which attract few voters, and the summer school millage requests, which also draw only a small percentage of the registered voters.

"These are done at times when people are on vacation, and when a very concerted effort can be made to elect selected people and to pass millages," the county executive said.

County executive hedges on plans

"I'm keeping my options open," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara when asked if he planned to enter the race for Senator Don Riegel's post.

Riegel's announcement last week that he would not seek another term as a U.S. senator began a scramble of fellow Democrats and Republicans to name a "winning" candidate for the balloting next year.

McNamara was questioned about his candidacy at the Oct. 4 legislative breakfast sponsored by the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce.

"There was a Senator McNamara in the past and if one of my sons runs for office, there may be a McNamara in the future," said McNamara, prior to his statement that he would leave his options open.

"I like what I'm doing. I watched Lucas (former county executive Bill Lucas) run for governor and the county did a backslide when his attention was diverted from the county," McNamara said. "We've come a long way in Wayne County and we have a long way to go."

While not opening the door to enter the senate race, McNamara did not close it.

Westland woman marks 45 years in orchestra

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

Little did Viola Randstadler know when she first began playing violin at the age of nine that she'd be celebrating 45 years of playing in the Plymouth Orchestra some 65 years later.

Raised on a farm in Adrian, Mich., Randstadler, 75, is a former Westland resident, who was brought up in a very musical family. Her father played violin with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra when it was only a small group and her mother played piano.

"It was a musical atmosphere. My brother played trumpet and my sister studied flute," she said.

Randstadler studied under Emily Austin, who is a well-known musician with the Detroit Symphony. After her marriage, Randstadler put aside her musical interests for 10 years, but started playing again and has been with the Plymouth Symphony ever since. Randstadler, a retired Livonia Public Schools clerk, recalls wanting to go to re-

"I like classical music and I love the music we play," Randstadler said.

She is performing in the 48th season of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, which opens at 8 p.m. Oct. 9 in the Belleville High School auditorium, 501 West Columbia St., Belleville.

The concert will feature pianist Flavio Varani as guest artist.

Tickets are available at the Belleville and Van Buren Township municipal buildings and at Chesley Odom Design on Main Street, Belleville.

Stepfather held on sex charges

A 32-year-old Romulus man has been arraigned on charges that he fondled his 15-year-old stepdaughter in the summer of 1992 and then exposed himself to her the following year.

Ronald Wayne Tripett, who moved to Romulus from Westland in 1991, also has been charged in Westland with similar complaints.

Tripett was arraigned before 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis on Sept. 23 and ordered held on $2,500 bail (10 percent). His pre-trial exam was conducted on Sept. 29 and he was ordered bound over for trial by Szlinis.

Bandits rob party store worker

Two bandits, one armed with a black handgun, held up and robbed the woman attendant of a party store in the 37000 block of Huron River Drive about 8:50 p.m. Friday.

The victim, a 26-year-old Belleville woman, told police that two men entered the store and summoned her over toward the cash register.

The armed bandit was described as a 6-foot-tall white male with a green mask and spiked blond hair.

He reportedly was wearing a black sweatshirt and red sweatpants and was carrying a black pistol in his right hand.

The second bandit was described as a black man with a medium build, wearing a brown checked jacket and facial mask.

The victim said the gunman called out "give me all your money." The pair removed the cash drawer from the register and fled from the store.

About a half hour later the empty drawer was found on the side of the I-275 highway, apparently having been thrown from the nearby overpass, police said.

Man arrested in stolen car

Swift action by Sumpter and Romulus police resulted in the arrest of a Detroit man on Sept. 28 and the recovery of a car stolen minutes earlier in Sumpter Township.

David Allan Reed, 23, of Detroit, was arrested by Romulus Patrol Officer Dennis Felice, assisted by Officers Matthew Robertson and Donald Smith, while he was driving along I-94 near Inkster Road about 12:05 a.m., five minutes after Sumpter Police broadcasted a stolen car alarm.

Police said the 1988 red Chevy Camaro was recovered. It had sustained damage to the steering column. The car, belonging to a visiting Kentucky man, was taken from a mobile home park, police said.

Reed was charged with both the theft and possession of a stolen car, and was arraigned before 34th Court Judge William Szlinis on Sept. 29. Bail was set at $10,000 (10 percent). His pre-trial hearing is slated for today.

board to consider "shared sacrifices" as those cited currently by the Clinton Administration.

He also claimed that by cutting heavily into the social workers in the schools, "you could put your goal of accreditation in jeopardy."

The board's finance committee scheduled another meeting prior to next Monday's session.

School Board member Ed Wilkerson also urged the board and local citizens to listen to Engler's school funding speech, since it will have a heavy impact on future school budgets.

School Trustee Pat Patterson told the parents "we are not urging these cuts to hurt our students. We need to come to as close a balanced budget as possible in 1993-94, because we have no idea at this time what Lansing will throw at us in coming months."

Northwest adds 2 Asian non-stop flights

Northwest Airlines departure terminal took on a decidedly foreign flavor last Friday, as the airline kicked off a new series of non-stop flights to Osaka, Japan and Sydney, Australia.

As a prelude to the official ceremonies that included Northwest officials and Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld, Northwest invited an aboriginal singer from Australia to perform and Rev. Tsuyuki, a Shinto priest, to officially bless the initial flight to Osaka.

According to Michael Conway, spokesperson for Detroit Metro Airport, with the addition of the Osaka and Sydney flights, Detroit Metro is now seriously challenging the coastal airports for international flight status.

Northwest formerly originated the flights from the John F. Kennedy Airport in New York.

Michael E. Levine, Northwest executive vice president-marketing, said "the switch to Metro will take advantage of increased traffic opportunities at the Northwest hub."

Northwest operates more than 300 daily departures at Metro.

Conway said Northwest also offers 10 non-stop flights to Tokyo each week, as well as flights to Seoul, Korea; Frankfurt, Germany, and Paris, France.

In addition, other airlines offer other trips overseas, including Delta to London, England; KLM to Amsterdam, Holland, and Lufthansa to Frankfurt, Germany.

Binsfeld, after talking extensively with Mayor Beverly McAnally, declared "it's great to be in Romulus and to witness this new route to Osaka and Sydney. It will greatly enhance Michigan's role in the new world economy. The project initiated today also re-emphasizes the state motto that 'Michigan Means Business'."

High school is still without heat

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Incomplete work on the heating system at Romulus Senior High School this summer left the totally remodeled school building on Wayne Road without heat during the unexpected temperature drops last week and early this week.

Assistant Principal Michael Teasdale confirmed last Thursday "it is brisk in here today - in the 60s - but we have not had any major complaints."

"Since the subcontractor in charge of the heating system did not get the job done this summer, we have added other workers. They will be working on weekdays after school hours and double time this weekend in an effort to get the job done by Wednesday (today)," Teasdale said. "We were hoping to have normal September weather, but unfortunately we didn't get it."

He credited other work done at the school during the summer with keeping most of the 36-50 degree temperatures outside.

He said "secretaries are using their normal portable heaters, similar to past years."

But since such units are not effective in classroom situations, other portable heating devices are being switched from other buildings within the district to the high school for the duration.

A check with Teasdale on Monday revealed most of the piping work and installation of one of the two needed large pump replacements had been completed over the weekend.

The final piping installations and second pump was to be installed in time for the Oct. 6 target completion date, which was set last Thursday.

"By then forecasters are projecting the weather will warm up to 76 degrees. Unfortunately, our air conditioning will not be ready then," Teasdale said. "The students and staff members have been great despite the few inconveniences we have had in the start-up of the school year."

Phone call complaints were received however at the Romulus Roman and Romulus School District offices over the heating delay.

The remodeling of the school building during the summer also reportedly blocked school band members from practicing prior to the school opening and thus the band used a number of kazooos at the opening home football game.

Part of the six classroom science wing could be opened as early as late this week, Teasdale said, barring any other remodeling difficulties.

Meanwhile Assistant Principal Daniel Hurst said the open house for parents of freshmen students was held on schedule last week.

"Fifty five parents turned out giving us a good base to work with this year. We introduced the class advisors, Jim Orme and Marge Bergman, as well as the parent coordinators," Hurst said.

Principal Tom Dolan discussed the building remodeling effort and the school curriculum. The parents also were taken on a tour of the newly constructed facilities.

Wayne-Westland schools restore programs

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

With the passage of the State Aid Bill, signed by Gov. John Engler on Wednesday, the Wayne-Westland School District has designated four top program restorations for the current school year.

With some $2 to $3 million anticipated from the state, Superintendent Larry Thomas proposed a restoration schedule which includes the reinstatement of 50 percent of the media clerks starting Oct. 12, all learning consultants, also on Oct. 12 or as soon as possible, unless they are in a classroom taking the MEAP test, all secondary transportation and elementary expressive arts, starting Oct. 25 and if money permits, the remaining 50 percent of the media clerks on Nov. 1.

After much debate, five of the seven school board members, including trustee Vicky Welty, Treasurer Patricia Brown, Trustee Laurel Raisanen, Vice-President Mathew McCusker and Secretary Richard LeBlanc, approved the restoration schedule. Trustee Leonard Posey and Board President Francis Winter turned down the measure which, Posey said, would surely cause a failure of the Oct. 18 millage request of 6 mills.

"I'm not in favor of restoring anything at this time. If we vote for any motions tonight, we are not thinking and acting strategically with what is going on. It will have a negative impact on our millage campaign," Posey said.

Posey suggested waiting to designate the state funding until after the millage election and when the administration is exactly sure how much funding they will receive.

"I cannot be fiscally responsible if I vote for immediate restoration of these programs. Kids would get on the buses money to fund," Reece said.

Other teachers expressed their concerns over lack of planning time and expressive arts for elementary children.

"We're burnt out. Please help us. We need the time and the kids need the specials," Wildwood Elementary teacher Sharon Mayernik said.

After the vote was cast, Posey said, "I think we can kiss our millage election goodbye."

"I agree that you have stopped any passage of millage. They're (residents) going to be confused," Westland resident Patricia Doucher said.

Reece said, "and thus if out-of-town people want to gamble, we may want to give them the chance to leave their money here with us."

But, McAnally cautions, gambling is still illegal here.

"But if Michigan opens the casino doors across the state, we want to at least be able to consider it as an option," the mayor said.

McAnally is also proud that the city hotel tax base has more than doubled in the past decade, and if some type of recreational area could be added to the scene here that rate could jump even higher.

Hazard meeting slated

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Angry Romulus residents, who are opposed to the hazardous liquid injection well project, are urged to attend a forum on the subject at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 13 in the senior high school auditorium.

James Clapperton, spokesman for Environmental Disposal Services (owners of the well located north of Northline and west of Wahrman Road) said Congressman William Ford, State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak and a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency representative have been invited to the forum.

A number of EDS geology and scientific specialists also will be on hand to answer questions.

After a number of city residents turned out at a recent city council meeting to complain about the injection well project, EDS President Douglas F. Wicklund wrote Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks stating, "Those citizens made it clear that there is a great deal of misunderstanding about the origin, planning, engineering, development, benefits and health-safety aspects of the project."

He continued, "We will actively participate in the planning and execution of the forthcoming public informational meeting at Romulus High School."

Clapperton and other EDS officials also are slated to speak before the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce at noon on Oct. 19 at the Days Inn Hotel.

from another round of casino development concept seminars, this one in Reno, Nev.

"This seminar stressed the downside of casino towns," McAnally admitted. "We were told that five percent of those who frequent casinos on a regular basis get hooked and thus cities offering such gaming facilities need to provide alternative treatment for those who fall victim."

Surprisingly, McAnally said, typical gambling addicts are middle-aged women, who get hooked on video poker.

McAnally was shown the massive security measures that take place in a city such as Reno (much of it behind the scenes or behind one-way mirror set-ups).

On the plus side, casino operations also offer many good paying jobs with top benefits for their employees, she said.

Since city taxpayers have shown they demand better roads, but are unwilling to pay for them, McAnally said, we have to find other ways to cover these improvements and convention centers and casinos could be part of the answer.

Local performances planned

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

It's an evening of entertainment the entire family will enjoy.

An Evening With Gilbert And Sullivan opened this week at The Marquis Theatre in Northville.

Audiences were entertained with songs from HMS Pinafore, The Mikado, Pirates from Penzance and other memorable musicals, according to Canton Township resident Cindy Zeitz who assisted with the organization of the performance.

Zeitz is a regular director/producer for productions at the Marquis.

"This production consists of extremely talented people," Zeitz said. "We're thrilled to have this caliber of individuals at the Marquis."

There are 16 performers in Gilbert with the youngest actor being 12 years old, according to David Pulice, director of the production.

"The adults comprise the Marquis Light Opera, and we also have the Marquis Youth Light Opera so that 12-year-old (Laurie Boloven) is a member of that chorus," Zeitz said.

The cast rehearsed for approximately four weeks, and everything went smoothly, according to Pulice.

"Considering we were utilizing young artists, it was really kind of special," Pulice said. "And, G and S (Gilbert and Sullivan) are famous for all their words so everyone had a lot to learn."

The production facilitates a great deal of rainbow-colored costumes. Pulice said some came from Ann Arbor, others from the University of Michigan G and S Society, some costumes were made, and Pulice even brought a few from his own personal closet.

Pulice achieved a music and theater degree from Michigan State and started working with the Gilbert and Sullivan production right after graduation at the university.

"The first one I did was in 1972," Pulice said. "I've done about 35 different shows now, and I've directed almost all of the G and S shows."

Pulice has traveled all over the country with Gilbert and Sullivan. He and Mark Vondrak, lead in Gilbert and Sullivan, have been working together since 1976. He said he hopes to continue more of the same in the near future.

"I just finished a competition in New York and ended up winning categories for soap operas and sitcoms so hopefully something else will start happening, but this stuff is fine and it's what I enjoy doing," Pulice said.

Vondrak was born in Detroit and brought up in Dearborn. He said he has always enjoyed performing.

"I found out when I got to college that I could sing better than I could play the trombone," Vondrak said. "So I changed the major. Where as David has had more of a national career, I've been more local."

"Right now I'm doing most of my work with the Michigan Opera Theater or Marquis Light Opera."

Last year the Marquis Light Opera, a non-profit organization, became a resident company and will present fully-staged, light-opera and operettas.

An Evening is now on stage with performances scheduled for 8 p.m. Oct. 9, 15 and 16. There is a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 6, 10 and 13.

Cost is $10 for the evening performances and $7.50 for matinees.

For general ticket information call 349-8110.

Service is focus of new photo store

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Prism Photo, located at 8155 Middlebelt Road in Westland, offers customers a selection of photo services including modeling portfolios, boudoir photography, family and child photos and much more.

"We do a variety of different things ... the only thing I don't do is wedding photography," Owner Don Nicholson said.

Seasonal photos, such as children sitting on Santa's lap, and animal photographs can also be taken.

A new photo service lab was just added in May and Nicholson said he intends to have complete lab service available by May 1994, which would provide customers with the option of poster-size photos or to get copies of old photographs among other photo processes.

One day photograph development is also available for those who would like to have pictures developed in a flash.

"We do all of our own film processing by the next day. We specialize in giving people a quality product at a reasonable rate," Nicholson said.

With 20 years of photography experience, Nicholson was an official show photographer at 1993 Autorama.

"I photographed all 550 cars and sold the copies to the car owners for advertisement purposes," Nicholson said.

Nicholson is also a track photographer at Milan International Raceways and sponsored the D.A.R.E. police program Saturday during a "police race" in which officers raced their cars and police vehicles and spoke with children in attendance about drugs and other concerns.

"The police officers spend time with kids on an equal level," Nicholson said.

Nicholson also makes an effort to become involved in community programs for handicapped children. He's on the board of directors at the Burger School for the Autistic and participates in events involving Kids on Wheels.

"I participate in anything to do with any handicap children to get them involved in something they don't think they can be involved in," Nicholson said.

Prism Photo is open 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

Past valedictorians and salutatorians of Romulus Senior High School will be honored at a school luncheon during Homecoming Week, Marge Bergman, alumni director, revealed today.

Homecoming Week is slated for Oct. 18-22, but the exact date of the luncheon is yet to be decided.

The luncheon will be coordinated by the Romulus Alumni Association and will be followed by a tour of the newly remodeled school facilities.

All Romulus valedictorians are entitled to free lifetime memberships in the Alumni Association, Bergman said.

Additionally, there will be a dinner for Alumni Association members and school district staff at the high school at 6 to 7:30 p.m. Oct. 22, following the Homecoming Parade.

There will be sloppy joes, potato salad, baked beans, cider and coffee for $2.

Not what they had in mind

It gave a whole new meaning to the word board.

Recently, members of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education were forced to endure the boarding up of a $3.8 million investment in two new schools in the district when a millage election failed to win the support of voters.

The boarding up of these two buildings truly was a sad situation, indeed, for a number of reasons. Did they school administration not plan properly for the future? Didn't someone suspect they're might not be funds to operate these buildings? Why would these people have spent this kind of money when it might better have been spent in the buildings that exist, providing a better education for the district students?

While these questions seem almost trite by now to members of the board of education and school administrators, the impact has just now been felt by many who really were unaware that this might be the ultimate outcome. The answers are that the board had no idea changes in financing might have this type of impact on the district finances. No, they didn't suspect there might not be money for the schools, but when they did, they asked for a millage from the taxpayers to prevent the boarding up of this multi-million dollar investment. When the taxpayers refused, they had no choice.

Now, with all school funding across the state held hostage to the political machinations of the gubernatorial and political aspirations of the legislature, everyone is in an even murkier quandary.

This is an ugly situation, and while this is Plymouth-Canton, it is symbolic of the chaos which is running amok throughout school districts across the state and in our area.

Will there be only one state school district and board? What type of controls will the state place on new funding? How will it be determined? Per pupil? By median income? Equally for every student? Will industrial and business taxes supplement some districts while others are compensated for this lack of tax base by the state?

All questions, no answers. But it is not our job, nor the job of our residents to provide the solutions. It is the job of our state legislators—and it is crucially important to every resident of this state. Whether our first priority is the education of our children or the protection of our property values, this is a desperate situation which must be dealt with and dealt with quickly.

Before every board is on the doors or windows of what once was a school in our state.

Simply delirious

And while we're at it—we're going to expand our horizons a bit and tell the Washington bureaucrats just what we think about the infighting and political football they've been playing with lives in this country lately.

While we usually attempt to keep our opinions on this page to local matters, this time, we think the Potomac insanity has affected us at a local level worthy of comment. Or perhaps our wavering from our self-imposed boundaries is a symptom of the contagion factor of this disease.

What IS going on here? We hear nothing from this proposal for national health care reform other than banal generalities after months and months of study. It seems that a wonderful, reasonable idea has been trampled into mediocrity and is strangling in generalities.

If there is to be a national health plan, all these political creatures in Washington must first be inoculated against the germs of parochial and partisan decisions based not on what's good for the country and for the people but on what's good for their party and their political contributors.

Let's get to it. If this has turned into a game of political favors and the outcome will be determined by the lobbyists who throw the most money through the most hoops, we are all doomed.

This isn't a game. These elected officials are now dealing with the very lives of their constituents. They need to take a good look in the mirror and stop playing doctor—or God.

No vote on millage urged

To the editor:
Many parents and taxpayers are questioning the wisdom of the 6-mill school tax increase requested by the Wayne-Westland Board of Education. Wayne-Westland currently is paying a school tax far above the average in the state. Passage of a 6-mill increase will again put us at or near the top of Michigan's 500 plus districts in school millage. Our community cannot afford to again pay the highest school tax in the state as we did as recently as 1992.

Further adding to the discontent, many ask: Why are program cuts always targeted at those areas that impact the kids and the parents most—like sports, band and busing. Is this fair? Is this equitable?

These programs, EVEN FULLY FUNDED, represent only a small fraction of the school's total budget. Eighty percent or more of the district's budget is going to salary and benefit packages for the education bureaucrats and unionized teachers—most of whom don't even live in the district.

Now, in hard times, these high paid, absentee elites are refusing to concede even a penny to our beleaguered parents and students. Is this fair? Is this equitable?

The Wayne-Westland Board of Education has generously given pay raise after pay raise to these selfish elites in past years. Annual pay and benefit increases totaling 4, 5 and even 6 percent have been secured with ease from our board. Salaries well in excess of $50,000 per year abound.

With the grim, tax-strangled 1990s economy and job picture staring at our parents and students, what is the education elite willing to do to help us? Nothing! Absolutely nothing! Is this fair? Is this equitable?

Asking the overpaid bureaucrats and the selfish teachers union for even a small one or two percent pay concession is like asking them to donate a kidney. Yet class after class of our seniors are graduating—ill prepared—into a world of $5 and $6 per hour jobs—with little hope for a future.

In September, the board refused to put language on the October ballot prohibiting the use of the 6-mill increase for even more salary and benefit increase. So the old policy continues—a few pennies for the kids and mega-dollars for the unionized teachers and the education bureaucrats. Is this equity or is it greed? I say it is bare-faced hypocrisy and pure, unadulterated greed. Send the education monopoly a message in October—kids and parents count too—selfish elites have no place in our school system. Enough is enough—just say "NO" Monday, Oct. 18.

Taxpayer demands answers

To the editor:
Another Wayne-Westland school millage vote? Whose funds do these millage votes come from (ultimately the taxpayer) and how much does each cost us? Someone will originate a petition that limits them to once every two years if this continues.

Following are some questions that need to be answered before the voters cast their ballots:

1. Since the 1988-1989 school year how many schools were closed?
2. What was the total number of employees at that time?
3. What is the total number of employees for 1993-1994?
4. What was the student enrollment for 1988-1989?
5. What is the student enrollment for 1993-1994?
6. Where are all the additional tax dollars going from those new subdivisions such as Millpointe, Legacy Estates, other new homes, and the Ford plant expansion, all in our district?
7. Why do teachers get a pay raise for a higher college degree when we all know it alone does not necessarily improve their teaching ability? Is there any other profession or business where a raise is given upon receipt of a higher degree? (In my years in business, I worked with many who did get higher degrees that did help them to better their work habits/organization but it rarely did anything for their ability to deal with/handle or lead employees).
8. An assistant principal's prime duty before retirement was to guard the copy machine which makes me wonder if the employees of the district are being utilized in accordance with their rate of pay? And, what kind of trust does this exhibit to the other employees in the building/district?

9. When was the last time any board office executive went out and sat down and talked face to face with a line employee(s) over a cup of coffee to get ideas about reducing costs or eliminating waste without the principal or others present? And have any of our elected school officials tried this? (Until they do it and gain employee trust by listening without defending, the costs in the district will never be controlled).

10. Have any district employees ever had to endure a "give back" such as a 15 percent wage reduction and then live with it for up to three years as some local voters have?

11. Please confirm, or deny, that retired employees are coming back as "consultants"? How do you expect to get new ideas from former employees who were "born and raised" in the district and know the ropes/methods/politics? Also, confirm or deny that they will be paid $500 per day?

12. Is it true that a para-pro (teachers aide) is in charge of the Kids Plus program and has to call the district office for any decision that must be made?

13. Confirm or deny to us that none of the 6 mills being requested will go for pay raises for district employees?

14. Are our teachers/principals getting the support they need from office/staff with "problem students"? (This is a blue collar community where tutoring/counseling are not affordable options for the vast majority of our residents).

15. As to student discipline, has anyone ever explored the idea of the action to be taken being decided by a group of their peers with just one teacher sitting in as just an adviser?

As evidenced by the preceding, I am one of many who still believes there is too much waste of our school tax dollars in this district and answers to the above questions might decide how I vote.

Good Samaritans receive thanks

To the editor:
Thank you for the use of this space to thank two anonymous charitable beings who donated much needed items to Operation Noah.

On Saturday, Sept. 4, a male and female in a pickup truck dropped off numerous cleaning supplies for Operation Noah at Garrett Glass.

I hope that those two people read this letter and know of my thankfulness for their generosity to our fellow human beings.

Busing plan called unfair

To the editor:
I would really like to see this letter in your "Opinion" column.

I agree that because of our school systems current financial problems we must all sacrifice and pull together. This "pull" however must be fairly applied!

I have a 10th grade niece who will be forced to get rides and sometimes walk to Wayne High (School) from the Van Born-Merriman area because buses have been eliminated. However, in looking at the bus schedule for the fall, I see two buses listed daily to the Wayne Ford Voc-Tec Center from Wayne High, about the same distance my niece must walk. If ALL people are not to be treated in the same manner don't expect our positive votes on the millage in October.

Get out, stay out

'Evacuate and remain outside' is Fire Prevention Week theme

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

"Get out! Stay out! Your fire safe response," is the theme of the Oct. 3-9 National Fire Prevention Week.

To eliminate needless fire injuries and deaths, firefighters advise individuals to leave their homes during a fire and to remain in a safe area until firefighters have put out the fire and made the area safe.

Tom Jankowski of the Michigan Association of Fire Fighters (MAFF) offers two examples of tragedies that can occur when fire victims re-enter a burning structure.

"A fire struck in the middle of the night, forcing a family of four out of its home. A 7-year-old boy, distraught that his pets were left behind, returned to retrieve them and perished. The same fire also took the life of a young firefighter who entered to save the child," Jankowski said. "Elsewhere, another family of four is trapped in a blazing trailer. The parents escape, but two boys remain asleep in their bedroom, and, after escaping the blaze, the mother returns and dies outside the boys' bedroom door."

Lessons can be learned from both tragic events.

"Perhaps, it's easy to play Monday morning quarterback, but, if that seven-year-old had been closely watched, he would never have made in back inside. If the two boys in that bedroom had gone over an escape route with their families before the fire and the room had been equipped with an emergency ladder, they also might still be alive," the MAFF representative said.

In both instances, it appears that the smoke detectors were operational. But, more is needed. Once a fire is discovered, individuals must know how to get out alive, he said.

"The combined use of smoke detectors and residential sprinklers can reduce the risk of fire deaths by approximately 75 percent," Jankowski said.

During National Fire Prevention Week, the MAFF asks each family to spend a couple of hours putting together a home fire safety plan. Be prepared and stress the importance of not going back into a burning dwelling for any reason. If people are trapped, firefighters have the best chance of rescuing them, according to the MAFF.

PUMPKIN FACTORY GEARS UP FOR HALLOWEEN

Last week, the fields of Marcel and Linda LeBlanc's farm on Harris Road were full of pumpkins. Today, most of the crop has been harvested, and is ready to be turned into jack o'lanterns and holiday pies.

"They are all ripe and ready to go. It's been an excellent growing year for pumpkins. For the past 17 years, I've opened the Pumpkin Factory at the beginning of October, and we continue through Halloween," said Linda LeBlanc. "During the last few days in September, we keep our fingers crossed that we won't get a frost or a heat wave. Either would have a bad effect on our pumpkin crop."

According to the LeBlancs, the 40-acre pumpkin crop this year is a fine one, with 150- to 200-pound pumpkins on the vines, along with smaller varieties.

While pumpkins, food treats, costumes and holiday decorations are featured at the Pumpkin Factory, the biggest draw is the Halloween display at the Harris Road farm.

"This year we're doing something different. The kids who work for us usually play the roles of the monsters, and station themselves along the hayride trail to scare the riders. However, now we've let them make up eight of their own scary scenes - with our final approval, of course - and we're giving a prize for the best one," LeBlanc said.

By letting the participants create their own scenes, LeBlanc believes the Halloween displays will be a spectacular one this year.

"For the youngsters who don't want a scary experience, we have animals here for them to see. This year, we're making them more accessible to the youngsters," she said. "We have a miniature donkey, a llama, a baby calf, goats, sheep, rabbits and chickens."

Teams of horses will pull wagon-loads of visitors through the fields and provide hayrides for the Pumpkin Factory guests, she said.

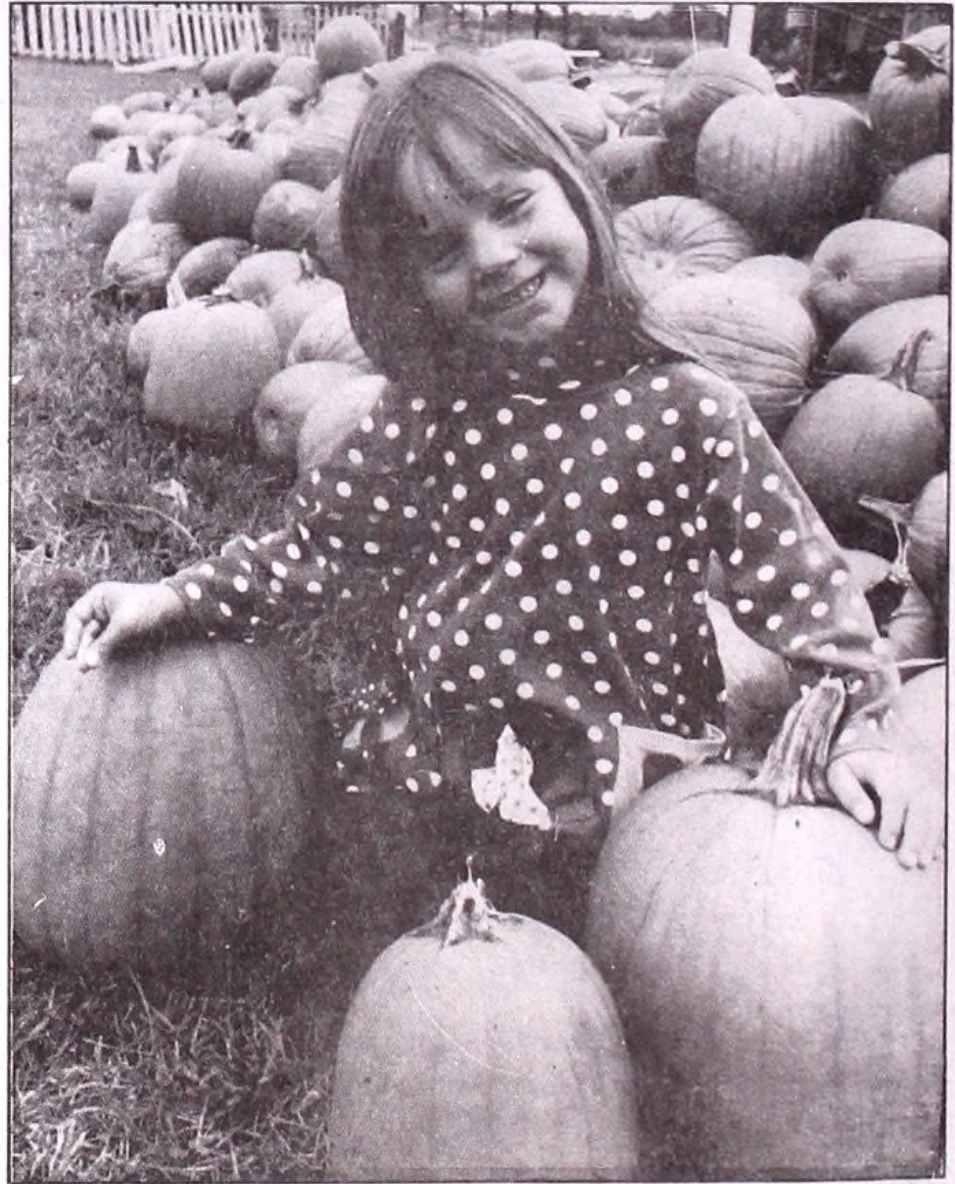

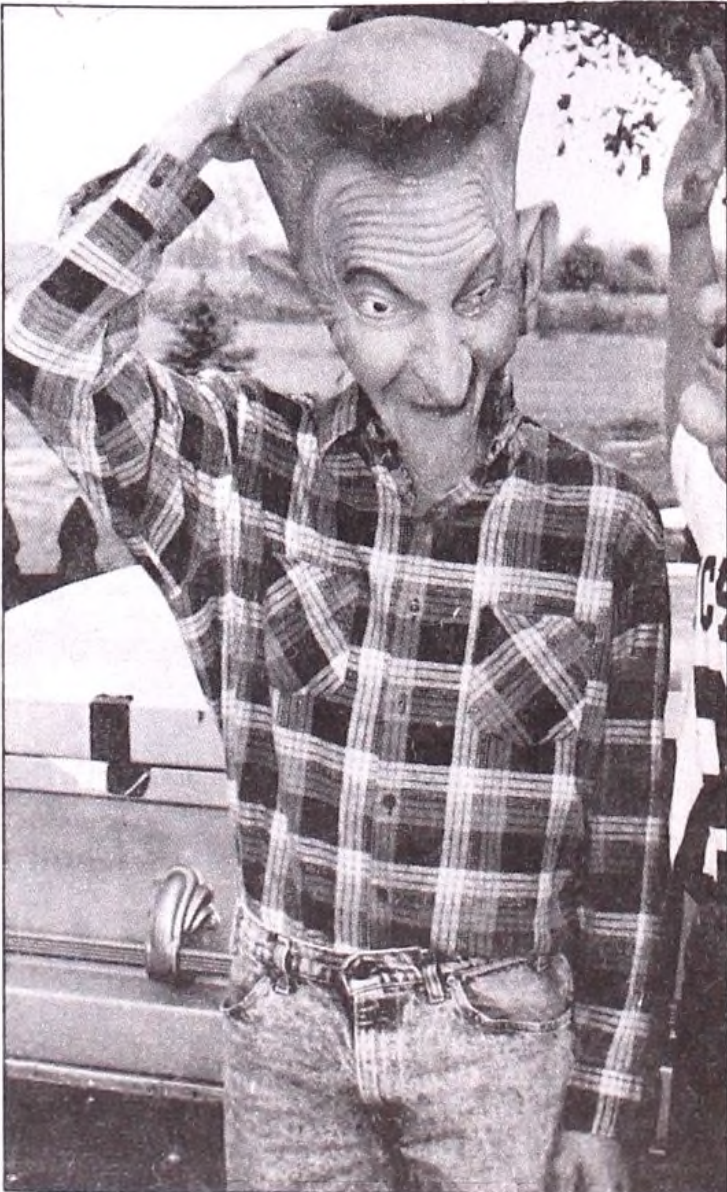

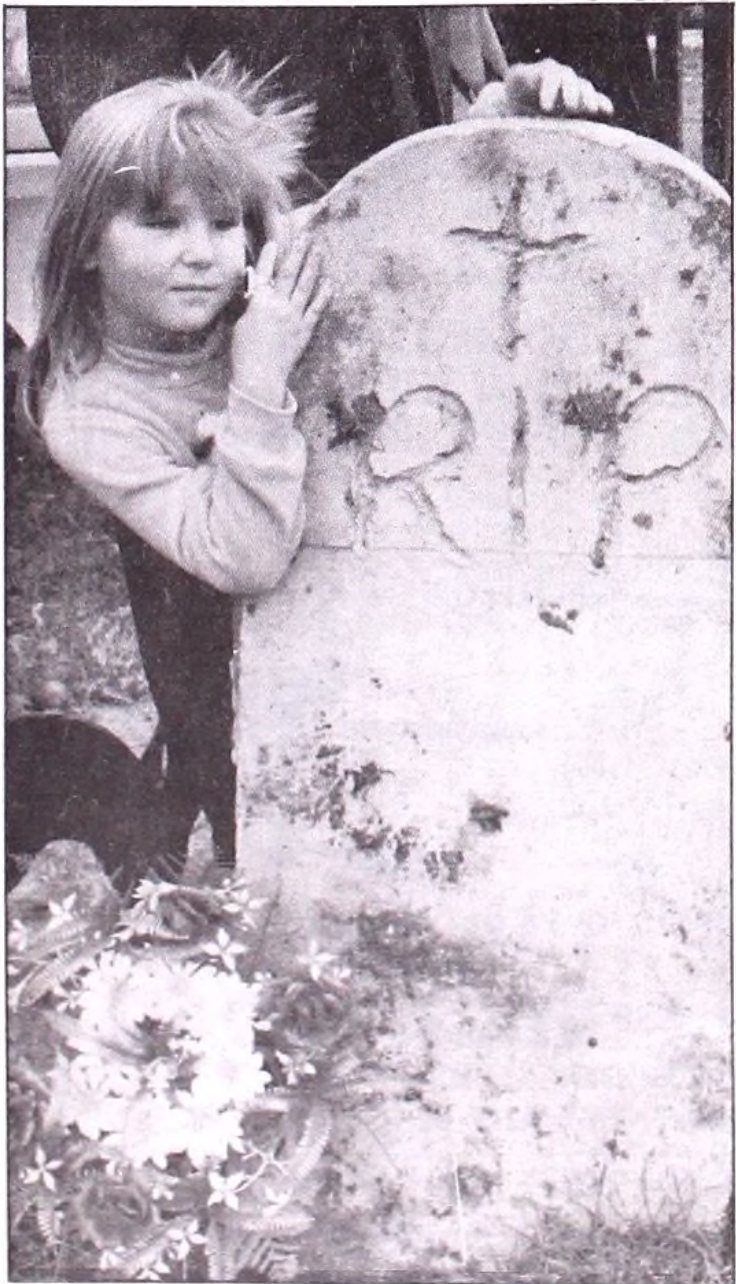

"We always try to have something new in our store. This year we have fall blankets and pillows and some animated characters - a flying witch, Dracula and a witch in a rocking chair," LeBlanc said. "We have a variety of scary masks plus some funny ones, like Laurel and Hardy."

LeBlanc said she features traditional costumes, rather than characters which "may be here today and gone tomorrow."

The farm is located at 48651 Harris Road, south of Bemis and west of Sumpter Road, just a short distance from their former location on Elwell Road.

Information on the tours and hours can be obtained by calling 461- 1835.

Glenn survives Stevenson scare, Salem is next

Rockets rally for 5th win

It wasn't the best of nights, nor the worst Friday night for Westland John Glenn High School, but the Rockets did manage to shoot down a high-flying Livonia Stevenson, 35-21, for their fifth consecutive win of the 1993 football campaign.

The Glenn victory also removed Stevenson from the top of the Western Lakes, Lake Division standings leaving the Westlanders in sole possession of the coveted berth.

But it took some second-half heroics and a "team effort" by the Rockets to remove the Spartans from their path. Stevenson also came into the duel Friday with a perfect 4-0 divisional record eking out close victories all the way.

And Stevenson and highly-touted quarterback Kevin Szczembara looked like they were going to extend their "dream season" at the expense of the No. 2 stated-ranked Westlanders as the Spartans held Glenn to one touchdown in the first-half, which the visitors matched.

Gordon, forced to make some needed adjustments to his offense, again managed to come through. And so did the versatile Besco twins - Derek and Bryan - who finally ignited their team.

Using Derek as the workhorse in the final two periods after he carried the ball only once for the entire initial half, Glenn managed to cause irreparable damage to the Spartan defense.

The 6-2, 220-pound all-around athlete got the call 25 times in the second half and he responded by rushing for 167-yards and two touchdowns. Twin brother Bryan also hauled in a TD pass that covered 18-yards from quarterback Brian Morrison which gave the Rockets a 14- point

Moshimer: 'They have the horses'

Coming off of one of their best all-around performances of the year - a 21-0 shellacking of North Farmington - Plymouth Salem High School football players have the dubious honor of meeting Westland John Glenn, the undisputed and undefeated Western Lakes Conference leader.

Coach Tom Moshimer and the Rocks realize that the task before them Friday night is not an easy one.

In fact, the veteran coach stressed that "we would have to play a mistake-free football game to even stay on the same field with them."

"They have all of the horses in their stable this year," Moshimer added.

That may be true. Glenn has an unblemished 5-0 record and is well on the way to clinching the Western Lakes Lake Division title. If the Rockets win the divisional title, they may have to meet Farmington Harrison for a second time this year to decide the conference championship.

Moshimer believes, "Glenn is definitely the class of this league this year."

Sparked by Andy Coburn's record-setting 95-yard opening kickoff return for a touchdown, Salem posted a second victory in three divisional starts Friday night. The Rocks are 3-2 overall on the season.

Mike Kley kicked all three of the Rocks' point-after.

Salem made it a 14-0 game later in the opening quarter as Brad Lear capped a 70-yard, 15-play drive with a 9-yard touchdown run.

Rob Shepley's third quarter, 3-yard touchdown run rounded out the Rocks' scoring.

Jay Perko and Bobbie Schumaker led a Salem defense that registered a first shutout of the 1993 campaign.

Wayne continues to roll

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was the kind of game that nobody left until the final whistle.

It was also the kind of game that kept fans on the edge of their seats - or standing up - most of the time.

And it definitely was the kind of game that Wayne Memorial High School players and coach Chuck Howton were happy to put in their win column.

With their homecoming fans on hand, Wayne edged Woodhaven, 30-26, Friday night to more one victory closer to an anticipated showdown with Dearborn Fordson for the inaugural Mega Conference, Red Division football championship.

"The name of the game was offense," said Howton, describing the action on the field. "And I didn't see any one leaving. The fans stayed until the finish."

Wayne pulled out a fourth victory in five starts in the final two minutes of the game. Trailing 26-22 with 1:30 left, Wayne freshman quarterback Lorenzo Guess fired a third-down, 40-yard pass to Bernard Hicks, who hauled in the aerial and got to the Woodhaven three before he stepped out of bounds, stopping the clock.

Then, Guess, on a handoff to senior tailback Willie Bush, made up the difference. The Zebras finished the scoring with Reggie McCarthy's two-point conversion.

The never-say-die Woodhaven team made it back to the Wayne 40 before Jake Rayborn sacked the quarterback, ending the drive and the visitors hopes of a

Belleville, Truitt whip Garden City

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was a Mega Conference crossover game and the first-ever meeting between a Belleville and Garden City football team.

And before a crowd that included members of the undefeated Belleville High School Team of 1958, the Tigers presented their homecoming crowd with an impressive 20-3 victory.

"It was great to win before that crowd," noted LaPointe. "We made some errors, but it was a great effort from a lot of different kids that made the difference."

Belleville senior quarterback Ralph Truitt turned in a superlative performance as he scored one touchdown and was in command most of the evening.

"He's gained a lot of confidence," said LaPointe. "And he's improving with each game."

Truitt got the Tigers on the scoreboard late in the first quarter after a sustained drive that began at midfield and set up by a fumble recovery. Truitt scored the first of three team TDs on a sneak, breaking the scoreless tie.

Doug Walter then came through with his first of two - he missed only one for the evening - point-after.

Belleville widened the lead to 14-0 in the second quarter as Josh Speller scored from the 11, and Walter booted his second PAT.

But Garden City got back into the game with a 35-yard field goal.

Tiger cornerback Luke Edwards set up the Belleville third and final score of the evening. He picked off a Garden City pass at the Tiger 30. Truitt then got down to work and engineered a 70-yard drive that culminated with Speller's 4-yard TD, pulled off on a trap.

Battling a constant drizzle that made the turf and ball slippery, Truitt went to the air seven times and found receivers twice for 53 yards. Speller and Gold were the mainstays of the Tiger ground game. Speller rushed for 162 yards on 26 attempts, while Gold added 114 of the Tigers' 337 total yards on 16 tries.

On defense, Jeremy Williams and Zyers Ruff stood out. Williams recovered a fumble at midfield that set the Tigers in motion for their first score. Ruff, also a tackle, counted seven unassisted and one QB sack. He also recovered a fumble.

LaPointe and the Tigers will take a 3-2 overall and a 2-1 league record into the Friday night Mega Conference encounter at Woodhaven. Woodhaven is coming off of a heartbreaking, last-play 30-24 loss at the hands of Wayne Memorial High School.

Robichaud closes in on area title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was Suburban Athletic Conference (SAC) Day at Eastern Michigan University Saturday and pre-season title favorite Robichaud High School celebrated the occasion at Rynearson Stadium by shoving SAC co-leader River Rouge out of the crowded driver's seat.

Coach Bob Yauck and the Bulldogs turned back a stubborn Rouge 12-6 to take over sole possession of first place. The unbeaten conference leaders, however, will face Highland Park on Friday, and Yauck is quick to point out that "Highland Park is always tough over there."

"We definitely are in the driver's seat," Yauck said, "but that easily change. They (Highland Park) can throw this race wide open by knocking us off. They have the talent to do it, if we play sloppy as we did against Rouge."

Robichaud had to play over four costly fumbles that almost cost the game.

Rouge players held the explosive Bulldog offense scoreless for the first-quarter and it wasn't until late in the second stanza that Robichaud quarterback Tom Massey managed to take his team on an incredible 99-yard march that broke the scoreless tie.

That march came in the wake of a flawless goal-line stand by the Bulldogs.

After a penalty put the Bulldogs at the eight, Massey handed off to tailback Troy Wells, who slipped off tackle and went the distance for the touchdown. Robichaud failed to convert but had the lead 6-0.

However, the Panthers came back in the third quarter as Brandon Washington picked off a pass and returned it 53-yards for the touchdown.

"You know we tried one pass and it was completed," quipped Yauck. "Unfortunately it went to Washington who came back with it to score."

Robichaud put what proved to be the decisive touchdown on the scoreboard with the first play of the fourth quarter. Bob Kelly recovered a Rouge fumble at the Panther 10-yard line, and two plays later, Wells scored his second TD of the afternoon, going in from the three.

The victory boosted the Robichaud record to 4-0 on the year and also lifted them into second place behind Clawson in the Class B state rankings.

Tigers dominate cross country invitational

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville High School men and women's cross country teams dominated their own invitational staged on Saturday at Van Buren Park.

Led by Brian Mockeridge, the Tigers placed three of their seven runners in the top five and had 40-points to spare in winning the men's division.

Mockeridge toured the 5,000 meter Tiger course in 16:35 to lead second-place finisher, Jonathan Micevicius of Ypsilanti Lincoln, across the finish line. Mockeridge was clocked in 16:35, while Micevicius posted a 16:47.

Belleville also had the third-best runner in Darren Hamilton, who covered the distance in 16:57. Teammate Craig Hogg was fourth in 16:58. In fifth place was Eric Carlson of Ypsilanti (16:59).

"Despite weather predictions of cold and rain, it was a great day to run," said Medley. "Our kids ran a great race. We had a 40-point cushion over our closest rival."

Belleville came away with the first-place trophy by scoring 22 points. Ypsilanti Lincoln runners placed second with 62, followed by Garden City (83), Livonia Franklin (105), Taylor Truman (114) and Romulus (127).

The Tigers also received outstanding performances from Evan Ring, who finished sixth in 17:10, while Jason Hanna was eighth in 17:20. Two other Belleville harriers were among the top finishers: Russell Stewart placed 10th with a 17:51 effort and Kyle Medley crossed the finish line 11th with a 17:52 run.

After running Taylor Center yesterday, the Tigers will turn their sights on the Livonia Franklin Relays which will be staged Saturday in Livonia. The 7-mile event pits some of the finest prep distance runners in the area.

In the meantime, Belleville also ran away with the first-place trophy in the women's division.

Despite the absence of premier Belleville runner, Tina Harman, and Lori Painter, who were sidelined last Saturday with injuries, Belleville breezed to an easy victory. Belleville had 15 points for first-place while Ypsilanti was runner-up with 65. Franklin finished third (67). Romulus and Taylor Truman, which also competed, didn't finish.

Tammy Pietrowski, Amy Pokewinski and Jamie Koren gave the Tigers a 1-2-3 finish. Pietrowski took the gold in 21:05; Pokewinski earned the silver (21:40) and Koren placed third in 21:45.

The Tigers also had the fourth-best runner in Misty Schubert, who posted a 21:54 run. Teammate Nicole Gradie finished sixth in 21:58.

"We're running well at this time," noted Vicchy. "I was pleased with our times."

Belleville also received an eighth-place effort from Mandi Jones, who carded a 22:23.

The Tigers will travel to Ypsilanti High on Saturday to compete in an invitational that will also include state powerhouses Monroe and Brighton.

Romulus falls in cliffhanger

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Despite a superb effort by senior running back Phil Franklin, Romulus High School dropped another cliffhanger Friday night, a 30-27 overtime decision to Holly.

"This (loss) hurts because I felt our kids had this in our victory column," said Romulus coach Dan Henry. "It's our inexperience that is hurting us."

Romulus, thanks to Franklin who scored all four of the Eagles' touchdowns, had the lead, 27-24, with less than five minutes left in the game. Then, after a Holly drive stalled, they brought on kicker Jayne Junga who connected on a 27-yarder that tied the score.

It was Junga's boot in overtime that also settled the score in Holly's favor.

Romulus scored twice in the first half with Franklin returning a punt 50 yards to the Holly end zone. Then, in the second quarter, Romulus quarterback Ryan Evans and Franklin teamed up on a 65-yard strike to lift the Eagles to a 14-10 half-time lead.

Romulus' defense had its problems stopping running back Corey Brummler, who piled up 151 yards and scored touchdowns of 1 and 4 yards in 25 rushes.

Evans and Franklin came back in the third quarter with another aerial that covered 5 yards for the third Eagles TD and Franklin capped an exciting evening with a 65-yard punt return for his fourth score of the game.

The 6-1, 180-pound tailback, who was invited to the University of Michigan on Saturday to watch Tyrone Wheatley and the Wolverines beat Iowa, had 336 all-purpose yards. He caught two passes for 70 yards, rushed for an additional 75 yards (on 10 carries) and returned two punts for 120 yards.

Paul Olney kicked three of the four Romulus extra points.

Romulus also received an outstanding effort on defense from Todd Hardwick, who counted four tackles and six assists for 10 points.

Henry and the Eagles head for Pinckney Friday night where the hosts will have a homecoming crowd waiting for them. Pinckney's scheduled game against Tecumseh last week was postponed because of an electrical failure.

Romulus coach Dan Henry (above) probably is wondering what it will take to win a game this year. The Eagles lost another encounter of the closest kind - in overtime to Holly. Henry and the Eagles hope to snap their four-game losing streak Friday night at Pinckney. But they will also have to beat the crowd. Pinckney will celebrate homecoming Friday.

Wayne

Wayne scored first as Tony McGill recovered a Woodhaven fumble at the 35 and Guess moved the Zebras to the four in six plays. At the four, McCarthy cashed in on an off-tackle slant for his first TD with 9:25 on the clock.

Woodhaven came right back on the next series and tied the score on Adam Jensen's 20-yard touchdown run. The visitors also booted the extra point, giving them the lead, 7-6. However, with four minutes left in the initial quarter, Wayne struck again. This time Guess engineered a 60-yard drive that ended with Bush's 6-yard touchdown run.

Wayne went for two with McCarthy who dove over the center of the line for the conversion and the lead, 14-7.

Woodhaven countered with a late second-quarter score that closed the gap, 14-13. Victor Ciurlick scored his first of three TDs from the four. They missed the extra point.

Wayne got some breathing room early in the third quarter when Guess and flanker Jason Overton teamed up on an 18-yard TD pass and with Overton catching another pass from Guess for the two-pointer, the Zebras had a 22-13 cushion.

But a turnover in the form of a fumble allowed Woodhaven to come right back into the game, and gave Ciurlick's his second score, a 35-yarder pulled off on an option.

With the score now 22-20 Wayne, Woodhaven players got another break when they managed to block a Wayne punt that was ruled dead at the Zebras' 3-yard line. From there, on the second play from scrimmage, Ciurlick scored again. This time the visitors had a 26-22 lead.

With four minutes left, the Zebras appeared to have let a crucial victory slip from their hands. But Guess, using Bush and McCarthy as his ramming rods, pounded away at the Woodhaven defenses, then went to the air and connected on that big 40-yard pass to Hicks before Bush took it over from the three for the winning touchdown.

Salem

"Our defense played well and we got a balance effort for everyone," Moshimer said.

In the meantime, contrary to published reports, Plymouth-Canton dropped a 14-0 decision to Northville Friday night. Some metro newspapers reported that Canton had won the game.

"Unfortunately, we didn't win," said Canton coach Bob Khoenle. "We had our chances, but muffed them."

The Chiefs will leap from the proverbial frying pan into the fire as they take on Western Division leader, Farmington Harrison, Friday night. Harrison is coming off of a 23-0 victory over Walled Lake Western and will have a homecoming crowd on hand to entertain Canton.

Khoenle pointed out that the Harrison speed and football tradition are a tough combination to beat.

"They have a couple of speedy running backs we must contain if we are to stop them," the Canton coach stressed.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Rockets

cushion late in the third quarter.

Although the Spartans closed the gap, they never were a threat after that.

Szczembara lived up to the billing that he is one of the better quarterbacks in the area as he connected on 11 of 18 passes against a tough Rocket defense, for 137 yards. Two of those arials went to receiver Brad Morgan for touchdowns.

Glenn also got touchdowns from running backs Tariq Horne, who returned to the Rocket lineup after missing the North Farmington game with an injury. Jeremy Cosby also chipped in a TD.

Nemesis Plymouth-Salem is next for the Lakes Division leader.

Although Tom Moshimer and his Rocks are not in contention, they always can be troublesome for any team that looks past them.

The two Lakes Division rivals will meet Friday night on at Westland.

FLYING HIGH

Some soared toward the clouds with ease while others twisted and twirled in the battle against the inevitable forces of gravity as they plunged toward the earth.

Recently the Flying Pilgrims gathered at a field in Canton Township at Lilley and Van Born roads to demonstrate their newest model plane creations, according to Bert Brian, president of the model airplane fanciers.

"We had a crowd of more than 500 people," Brian said. "There were 56 pilots. At one point the parking lot was completely filled."

The Flying Pilgrims are a group of expert pilots who challenge the sky with engines which roar just as loud as a vehicle on four wheels.

"We have people in the group who have been building models for years. There are also some who recently joined and are just beginning to start their hobby."

- Bert Brian

"The Flying Pilgrims have been around before the 1980s," Brian said. "People of all ages, anywhere from 12 years old to 76, get involved."

The Pilgrims don't compete against one another. They only challenge themselves with their own machines, according to Brian.

"The Flying Pilgrims is open to anyone who wants to fly model airplanes," Brian said. "It's really an event for the entire family to enjoy."

Building a model plane which will actually lift off from the ground can take anywhere from a month to a year to complete. Some models can be very sophisticated while others can take flight with a simple wing span.

"The best way to find out about these kind of planes is to go to the hobby shops," Brian said. "There is Rider's Hobby

Shop in Canton, Nankin Hardware in Westland and Joe's Hobby Centers in Farmington.

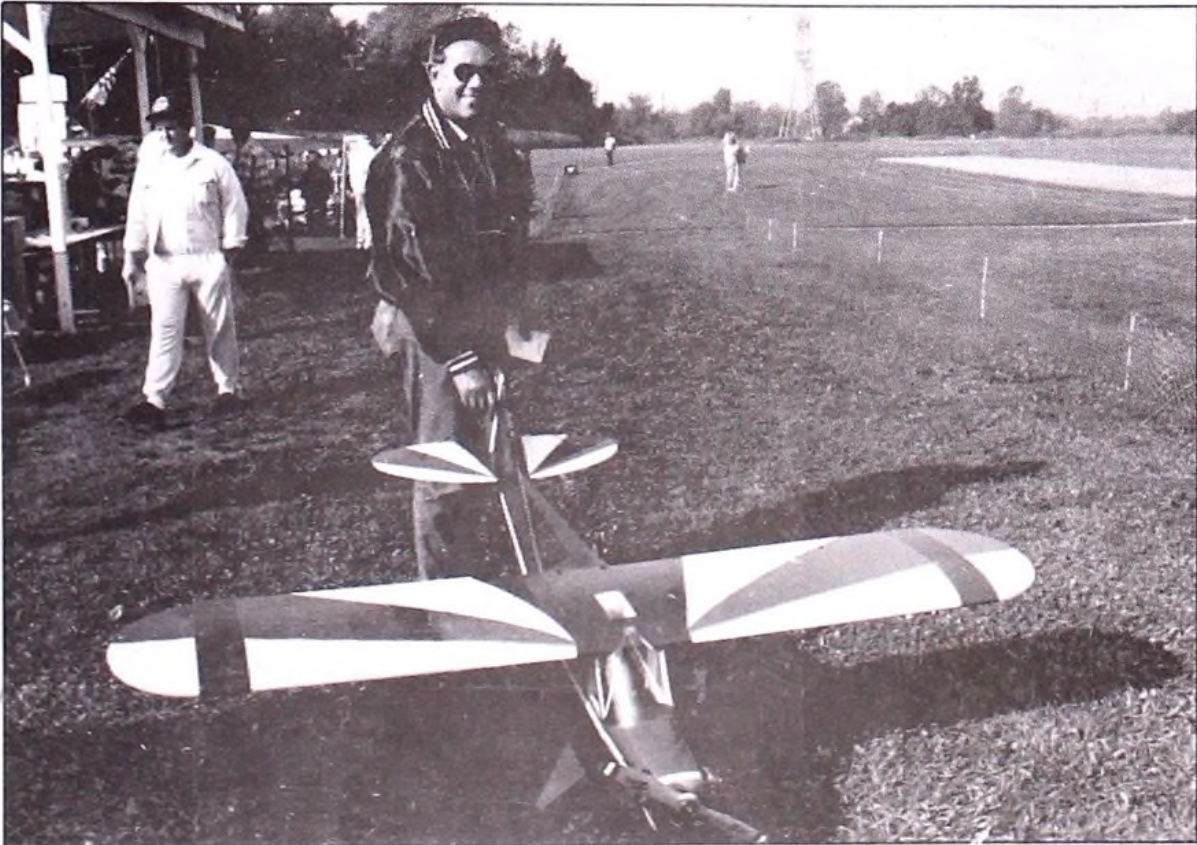

"We have people in the group who have been building models for years. There are also some who recently joined and are just beginning to start their hobby."

The Flying Pilgrims meet once a year to test their soaring machines. Members also meet every fourth Thursday of the month to talk about the model planes.

A 2 p.m. Oct. 28 meeting has been scheduled for the Flying Pilgrims at the Canton Township Library on Canton Center Road. The group will gather in the meeting room.

Anyone interested in joining the Flying Pilgrims can contact Brian at 397-0835.

Mother alleges sales group mistreated 15-year-old son

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer
By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

A Westland woman has made allegations against a Garden City based group called Michigan Junior Careers, which offers youths between 14 and 18 years of age the chance to earn money by selling candy door-to-door.

Michigan Junior Careers offers southeastern Michigan teens the opportunity to earn money by traveling to other cities by van to sell candy.

Karen Burnett of Westland said the group came to pick up her son, Garry Flateau, 15, Sept. 18 around 8:45 a.m. and did not bring him back until 10:30 p.m. that evening. Burnett was also dismayed that her son, a Wayne Memorial High School junior, was left standing alone for one-half hour in what she termed "a ghetto area," before anyone came to pick him up.

"There aren't any ghettos in Jackson to my knowledge. We don't work in such areas," Charles Smith, owner of Michigan Junior Careers, said.

Smith said the driver, Michael Ikeh, experienced brake failure on the vehicle after dropping the teens off and took his vehicle to a nearby muffler shop to get it temporarily repaired so he could get the teens home.

"He took care of the repair as quickly as possible. Michael had the teens' safety in mind," Smith said.

Smith said the teens left Jackson during daylight hours, but Ikeh drove slowly because of the brake problem. Smith said the teens normally work till about 8 p.m. and have breaks mid-day.

Burnett contacted police when her son did not return by 6 p.m. and had an all points bulletin (APB) put out on her son at the Westland police station.

"I was frantic when he didn't come home by 6 p.m.," Burnett said.

Burnett added that the van the teens were transported in had no safety belts and contended that the group was allowing children under 14 to sell candy.

Smith denied all of these allegations and added that parents must sign permission slips in order for their children to participate in the program.

"We made an error in judgment as far as letting her know when her son would be home. But I truly believe this parent is going overboard," Smith said.

Burnett called Wayne Memorial High School Principal Ronald Stratton with her complaint.

"She was upset because she thought the activity was school-related," Stratton said.

Stratton said he called Smith and told him to keep his employees off school grounds and has not had any problems since.

"We called and asked them not to solicit our student population. They were very receptive," Stratton said.

Smith said his employees do not distribute fliers on school grounds, but rather pass them out to students on their way home from school.

Burnett said she was also informed that one child was left in Jackson by the group on a different occasion. Burnett said Jackson Police told her a youth was brought in by an area farmer because he was left behind by the group.

Smith said this particular youth became upset and wanted to go home because he wasn't selling any candy. Smith said the driver dropped him off in a "safe area" and told him to wait until the rest of the group finished their sales.

"He was discouraged and just wanted to go home. He was put in a safe place and asked to wait and he just left,"

Smith said.

Smith said his driver looked for the youth until dark, but was unable to find him.

Although the incident occurred in Jackson, police in the area said they haven't had any problems with Michigan Junior Careers.

"This is the first I've heard of any complaint," said Jackson police officer Kevin Hiller.

Sharon Roman, Jackson City Hall clerk assistant, said city officials were informed of the group selling candy door-to-door, but it was only supposed to be on a short-term basis.

"We knew they were going to sell pre-packaged candy for two days," Roman said. "They didn't need a permit because the group is under 18 years old."

Garden City detectives said they haven't heard any complaints except for the Westland incident.

"We've heard about them, and we talked with the same lady as you have," said Garden City Sgt. David Harvey. "It sounded like they were legitimate. The kids do have to follow state guidelines in terms of employment."

"If they are violating labor laws, the problem should go to the Michigan Wage and Labor Department."

Harvey said he had one of the youths from the group sell candy at his door recently, but since he has received the complaint from the Westland resident, he said he wouldn't purchase another candy bar from Junior Careers organization.

Smith said his organization is a very positive thing for the teens to become involved in to occupy their time. Michigan Junior Careers provides teens with an opportunity to earn money and provides them with a scheduled group activity every month, Smith said. The teens earn $1.25 per each $5 box of candy they sell.

"It keeps them out of trouble. We are making a difference in a positive way," Smith said.

Smith added that the group also gets involved with fundraisers and food drives throughout the year.

Fred Longton, owner of the Michigan Elite Teens, a similar organization based in Wayne, said he wanted people to know that his organization has nothing to do with the Michigan Junior Careers.

Threat evacuates building

Westland police responded to a bomb threat at Ternes Packaging, located at 700 Manufacturer's Drive in Westland, Westland police said.

The plant manager said an unknown male called around 9:50 p.m. on Sept. 24 and said, "I'm calling to let you know there's a bomb to go off in 15 minutes. Thank you," police reports said.

Officers cleared the location and found no explosives. The manager told police there have been three bomb threats in the past two months, police said.

Officers were dispatched to the location on a report of a second bomb threat around 11:30 p.m. that same evening.

The manager reported that he was called by the same man who left the same message, police reports said. Officers again cleared and searched the location and found no explosives.

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

Chilly, fall breezes don't dampen the spirits of those born in October when it comes to celebrating their birthdays. For members of the Shephard and Ferguson families of Belleville, October is a month of many birthday celebrations. Blowing out candles on her cake on Oct. 7 is Stephanie Shephard, 8, the daughter of Brian Shephard and his wife, Nancy, who is observing her birthday on Oct. 2. # Local hair stylist earns honors in international competition

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Westland resident Monique Kozorosky was selected as one of the top 10 hairstylists in the country in an international beauty competition. Some 42 hairdressers around the country submitted video cassettes documenting their background, interests in the beauty industry and showing an actual haircut and style. Based on their presentation, 10 finalists, including Kozorosky, who works at Salon International in Plymouth, were selected. Of those 10 finalists, four hairdressers were invited to participate in the International Beauty Show group American Team Y.E.S. and the other six winners were selected as alternates to the team and given the opportunity to participate behind the scenes in the shows. "The alternates are invited to come and assist so they get the full understanding of what the team is doing," Hazel Vanlandingham, Director of Education at the International Beauty Show Group, said. Kozorosky, who was selected as an alternate, plans to attend as many of the team performances as she can to gain experience and hopes to be selected to the 1994 team. Kozorosky, 23, has five years of experience in hair styling and has worked at Salon International for the past two years. Team members are between the ages of 19 and 25 and advance their careers by learning and displaying new hairstyling techniques to hairdressers around the country. "Without this program, many hairdressers spend 20 to 30 years paying their dues. This is an express elevator to the top. They work side by side with some of the world's greatest talents," Vanlandingham said. Team members also advertise for various companies during their shows by using their products. Kozorosky said being a member of American Team

Y.E.S. will advance her career in hairstyling. Kozorosky said she would eventually like to establish a firm clientele. Kozorosky said she enjoys

"giving people the best haircut they've ever had by giving clients a haircut they can maintain, but yet give them an individual effect."

"A hair artist does art with hair. The hair styling industry should be looked at as a true profession and not just something to fall back on," she said.

Officials continue fire investigation

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Westland fire officials are investigating a possible arson related to a fire discovered early Saturday morning at Open Door Baptist Church, located at 1410 Lillian Street.

Police and firemen responded to an emergency call made by an unknown individual at approximately 1:30 a.m. Upon arrival police saw flames outside the south side of the church basement window and smoke billowing from seams in the doors, windows and frame of the building, police reports said.

All doors were locked and windows closed, except for the blazing window.

After the fire was extinguished, police were called back to the scene by Westland Fire Marshall Patrick Harder who said he observed, "a possible burn pattern on the east side basement interior wall."

No traces of flammable liquid, flammable containers or odors were observed and no broken glass was found inside or outside the basement window. Officials suspect the window was made of plastic and a person pushed in the plastic window and entered the building before starting the fire, police said.

An informant reported a neighborhood 14-year-old heavy-set youth allegedly walked away from the building approximately 3:10 a.m.

Police also observed a hole in the window of a bus parked on the south side of the church. Police investigated and found a rock inside the rear of the bus and a large burn mark on the seat below the broken window, reports said.

Fire officials have no suspects at this time and the arson is still under investigation.

Improvements slated for Corrado Park

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Following a ruling by Wayne County Circuit Judge Edward M. Thomas, Westland will be able to start renovations on Corrado Park as early as next spring, according to Westland Deputy Mayor George Gillies.

The suit was filed by Livonia Public School District following a 1984 land transaction between the district and the city. The district attempted to rescind the transaction because the exchanged land they received from the city was determined to be contaminated.

In exchange for the 10.3-acre parcel on Ann Arbor Trail, the city received the old Monroe School site, which the city developed into Corrado Park eight years ago.

The school district later sued the city, asserting that the soil was contaminated, asking the court to rescind the land swap because both parties made the agreement under mutual mistake of fact as to the condition of the property.

Westland City Attorney Angelo Plakas argued that the school district should have brought the suit within the six-year statute of limitations since its lawsuit was for breach of contract. The court agreed and the lawsuit was dismissed.

The lawsuit dismissal will allow the city to proceed with further improvements to the park through a Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant.

City officials will be taking bids on the project early next year for the following improvements: tennis court, beach volleyball court, a second pavillion and a half mile fitness trail. The total project will cost approximately $118,000 and should be finished within four to six weeks after construction begins in the spring 1994, Gillies said.

Corrado Park is the third most used park of the 17 city parks, Gillies added.

Artists to exhibit at concert

When the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra performs its opening concert of the season on Oct. 9, a group of award-winning artists will be on hand to make the evening a complete artistic experience.

The lobby of the Belleville High School auditorium, 501 West Columbia, will be converted to a gallery of fine art to display the works of six artists.

"Before the concert and during the intermission, patrons of the arts will be able to see the works and talk with the artists who are coming to Belleville for the occasion," said Chesley Odom, president of the Belleville Council for the Arts.

Featured artists will be Richard Dokas, black-and-white photographer; Cindy Fields-McMahon, paper/mixed media artist; Bruce Boatman, hand-blown glass artist, and water colorists, Marilyn Lyons-Austin, Theresa Politowicz Heires and John Lasher.

Tickets for the BACA-sponsored concert are available at the Belleville and Van Buren Township municipal offices as well as Chesley Odom Design.

Arraignment set for robbery suspects

An Oct. 13 arraignment on information has been scheduled for three local residents charged with unarmed robbery in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Paul J. White, 35, from Ypsilanti, Cherry Deann Taylor, 27, from Romulus, and Valerie Evette Shelby, 38, from Inkster, were arrested by Wayne police for allegedly taking $20 from Anthony Martino and Leslie Roseburgh, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"This occurred on a driveway on the 3500 block of Gloria Street," Drews said. "The male victim picked up someone he knew and took her to his brother's home."

"They were followed to that area by acquaintances of the female victim."

White, Taylor and Shelby demanded $20 and some jewelry from the two victims while they were sitting in the vehicle on the driveway, according to Drews.

"The suspects were arrested by officer Terry Webb who was assisted by officer Ben Corney," Drews said.

On Sept. 29, preliminary examinations were waived for all three suspects. A $50,000 bond was set for Shelby, a $75,000 bond was set for Taylor and a $50,000 bond was set for White.

Conference scheduled for assault suspect

An Oct. 22 conference has been scheduled for two Westland men charged with felonious assault before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Daphne Curtis.

Richard Porter, 17, and Robert Bunton, 20, were allegedly involved in an assault incident at George's Fun Center parking lot on Michigan Avenue in Wayne at 11:53 p.m. Aug. 27.

Both defendants were arraigned Aug. 29 in an out-county court before Judge William Sutherland. A $5,000 cash bond was set.

The incident allegedly initiated from an argument which resulted in one victim being hit by a baseball bat and one being hit by a shovel, according to Drews.

Wayne residents charged with robbery

An Oct. 13 arraignment on information has been scheduled for a Wayne man and woman charged with intent to rob while armed before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Isidore Torres.

Rickey Peters, 38, and Michelle Lorence, 31, were bound to Recorder's Court during a Sept. 29 examination at the 29th District Court.

Peters posted 10 percent of his $5,000 bond. Lorence is in the Wayne County jail waiting for the arraignment on information pending a $20,000 cash bond.

The two defendants allegedly demanded money from Canton Township resident Christopher Anthony Straughter at 3:50 a.m. Sept. 19 while pointing a knife at him at the Parklane Motel on Michigan Avenue.

Local man found guilty of sexual assault

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A former Westland resident was convicted in the first of five cases involving criminal sexual conduct (CSC) against youths under 13 years of age in Washtenaw County Circuit Court.

Gary Stephen Greenwell, a 34-year-old Superior Township resident, was convicted by jury on Wednesday of first-degree CSC involving a 13-year-old boy. Greenwell is scheduled to be sentenced for the crime on Nov. 19 and faces a maximum of life in prison.

Greenwell was initially arrested May 26 for allegedly assaulting a business associate's 9-year-old son. The 1976 John Glenn High School graduate was ordered to be held on a $1 million bond after Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies discovered 1,780 sexually explicit videotapes involving young boys and 59 bags of marijuana, marijuana plants and 100 LSD tablets.

Greenwell, a former executive producer with the Bloomfield Hills-based Ross Roy advertising firm, faces six more counts of CSC, including four counts of second-degree and two counts of first-degree CSC involving a total of four other young boys.

Video equipment and cameras were found in one of the bedrooms in Greenwell's home located on the 8700 block of Nottingham Drive in Superior Township. Washtenaw County Sheriff's Lt. R.J. Smith testified that the room contained a waterbed on a raised platform and "a great deal of audio and video equipment."

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputy Michael King was responsible for viewing the two videotapes shown during the three-day jury trial. One videotape involved the 13-year-old boy and another showed scenes of a 7-year-old and his 8-year-old brother.

The second videotape of the two brothers was admitted into evidence to show the state of mind of the defendant under a new "similar acts ruling."

During one section of the 13-year-old's tape, King recounted Greenwell saying, "Why don't you take off all your clothes and let's get started."

The video shows Greenwell measuring the boy to allegedly determine his size of clothing.

"After I was naked, he measured my legs to save time trying on clothes," the victim testified.

At one point, Greenwell asked the victim to get on his hands and knees with his buttocks facing the camera, but told the boy the camera was not on. Greenwell then told the boy his buttocks were dirty and began wiping the area with a rag.

Throughout the video, Greenwell instructed the victim to change his underwear and kept the camera focused on the boy's genitals.

The victim's mother testified she trusted Greenwell because he was a friend of her son's music teacher, whom she has known for several years.

"Initially my son talked to him (Greenwell) about making a (commercial) video," she said.

The victim's mother said she accompanied her son during the initial meeting with Greenwell, in which the defendant allegedly told the mother he and her son would have to go shopping for some clothes for the video. The mother testified that when her son brought back the clothing he allegedly bought that day, she thought it was odd that there were no price tags on them.

"I went through the bags. None of the clothes were wrapped or had any tags at all," she said.

The victim testified that the CSC incident occurred when he met the defendant to go shopping and Greenwell told him he had clothes at his home for the boy to try on.

The video involving the 7- and 8-year-old also showed the boys being asked to take their underwear off and put them back on several times. Greenwell asked both of the boys to lay on the bed and spread their legs apart with the camera focused on the boys' genitals. Greenwell assured the boys that he was not taping throughout the video, in which he asked the boys to lift their buttocks in the air while the camera focused on their genitals.

In testimony from the brothers, both stated that Greenwell put his finger between their buttocks, but there was no penetration.

Defense attorney, Douglas Mullkoff, did not refute arguments that his client touched the 13-year-old inappropriately, but did dispute the charge of anal penetration.

Prosecutor Amy Ronayne proved to the jury's satisfaction that Greenwell did commit sexual penetration with his finger against the 13-year-old boy.

Resident musician to perform at State

Compete against yourself, and you can't lose.

Those words of inspiration are etched in a glass-like plaque which is situated above a Technics piano in the home of Wayne resident George Woodrow.

A master of the keyboard, Woodrow will be performing in a concert setting at the State Wayne Theater 8 p.m. Oct. 16.

Woodrow's musical talent has been obvious since he was 3 years old. He said he used to sit on his older sister's lap when she was playing the piano and he would assist her with a finger or two.

"I started piano lessons when I was 8 years old," Woodrow said. "I had a Yugoslavian teacher at the time who gave instructions mostly on classical music."

Woodrow, who is blind, had the opportunity to study under many talented individuals, but he said it was Bob Waltz who made the greatest impact on his music career. "He taught me how to read Braille music," Woodrow said. "He remains to be one of the best teachers I ever had."

After graduating from high school, Woodrow majored in music at Wayne State University.

"I studied mostly theory at the time," Woodrow said.

Pretrial set for sibling defendants

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Krystal Cheeks, who celebrated her 17th birthday in jail last Friday, and her 15-year-old brother, Clinton, will return on Wednesday to the 22nd District Court in Inkster to answer to felony murder charges.

The siblings are accused of killing alleged Inkster drug dealer David Jerome Pasley during the early morning hours Sept. 26 at the victim's girlfriend's home. Inkster police said that the two defendants were to be paid $40,000 for the "hit".

Pasley died of bullet wounds sustained from a semi-automatic weapon. The weapon has not been recovered.

Police believe that the brother and sister were promised the money from a "third party" whom detectives refused to identify. Police have been unsuccessful in obtaining a warrant for the suspect's arrest.

The 28-year-old Pasley, a former Inkster High School basketball star, had moved into his girlfriend's home and was living with her and their small child when he was slain. Police said that they found cocaine and approximately $3,000 in the house that Pasley shared with his girlfriend and their child. His pockets also had been emptied and turned inside out, police added.

The victim's girlfriend was at work at the time of the shooting and the child was in the company of an uncle, police said.

Inkster Detective Charles Givens, who is in charge of the investigation, would not reveal the identity or motive for Pasley's slaying, but he did say that the third suspect had been questioned, and knew "all the people involved."

"We're working on that (obtaining a warrant)," Givens said. "But at this time the prosecutor's office hasn't issued one."

Car crash claims life of local teenager

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

What began as a "joy ride" around the Wayne-Westland area ended in tragedy for two Westland teenagers Oct. 5.

Daniel Alexander Daughtry, 15, died Tuesday and Michael Burge, 19, is in serious condition at the University of Michigan Hospital after the white convertible Mustang they allegedly stole from a Wayne home slammed into railing off of Michigan Avenue near the railroad tracks and turned over at least three times, according to Wayne Police Chief John Colligan.

"We received information from Westland police that they had seen the car westbound on Ford Road earlier in the day," Colligan said. "We were later notified that the car was on westbound Michigan Avenue."

"Police officer Martin Boisvert tried to stop the car at Second Street. They took off at a high rate of speed."

When the two Westland youths drove off at approximately 70 mph, Colligan said Boisvert decided not to follow them at the same rate of speed in order to avoid an accident. Burge was reportedly driving at the time of the accident.

"It was near 5 p.m. at the time, and there was a high rate of traffic in the area," Colligan said. "The officer continued following and was on Elizabeth when the crash occurred."

Colligan said the convertible mustang hit the guard rail on the south side of westbound Michigan Avenue which caused it to turn over.

"The two individuals in the car were not wearing seatbelts at the time," Colligan said. "They were thrown from the car. The 15-year-old (who was the passenger) was pronounced dead on arrival at Annapolis Hospital."

Colligan said the teenagers had allegedly stolen the vehicle from the Wayne home at 2 a.m. Oct. 5 and had been driving it around all day.

"Apparently at one point during the day they had re-

John Lucka, owner of ABC Auto Reconditioning on Michigan Avenue, was an eyewitness at the scene and said he believed the Westland residents were driving at least 70 mph before the crash occurred.

Lucka's business is situated directly across from the accident scene.

Area residents arrested for soliciting sex in Inkster

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Some 17 area men apparently were looking for sex in all the wrong places and may have to pay for their transgressions.

Although they failed to consummate their transactions, they did come away red-faced and blushing from their experiences in Inkster after they discovered the objects of their affection were police women working undercover.

The 17 suspected Johns were rounded up and jailed until they could come of with $200 bond each.

The men were arrested during a "sting" operation conducted by members of the Inkster police and auxiliary units.

The men, mostly professional and business people from the cities of Dearborn and Livonia area are scheduled for arraignment on Monday in the 22nd District Court in Inkster, according to Detective Charles Hines, who was in charge of the operation.

"We will not release the names of the defendants - all of whom posted the bonds - until their official appearance in the district court," Hines said. "After that, it will be a matter of court record."

"The motel owners around here have told us that since we have begun cracking down on these Johns, things have changed for the better for them."

Hines said that the defendants were arrested after they approached "decoys" who were stationed in the Springhill Street and Michigan Avenue area. Springhill is adjacent to a store that deals in pornographic books, videos and films located, and is east of the Melody Theatre which also features pornographic films and videos.

According to police reports, one of the defendants, a resident of St. Clair Shores, told arresting police officers that he was in Inkster "to purchase some gas."

One of the arresting officers related an incident where, when they arrested a another suspect, "the man's hand fell off."

The suspect was wearing an artificial limb. He told police that he had lost his hand in an industrial accident.

Hines stressed that the "sting" operation was one of a series conducted by the department in hopes of putting a stop to the influx of men seeking sex in the city.

"We have been trying to clean up Michigan Avenue for some time," Hines added, "The motel owners around here have told us that since we have begun cracking down on these Johns, things have changed for the better for them. They are now getting families and better clientele to stay at their motels."

The veteran Inkster police officer said he did not understand why "in this day and age when so much attention is given to AIDS and sexually-transmitted diseases that they guys continue to play Russian roulette with their lives.

"Aren't they ever going to learn?"

If convicted on the charges the defendants could be fined $500 and/or a 90 day jail term.

District court offers warrant amnesty program

Those who may have an outstanding warrant issued by Inkster hanging over their heads might want to dispose of it this month.

Judge Sylvia James of the 22nd District Court yesterday announced that October has been set aside as "Warrant Amnesty Month".

If a warrant has been issued for an individual's arrest because they failed to appear in court after having been ordered to do so or failed to com-

If a defendant in a case is arrested they could only be released upon payment of a cash bond, court officials stated.

Officials at the court further noted that during the months of August and September, letters were mailed to defendants who had outstanding warrants giving them an opportunity to appear in court without the onus of being arrested.

The letters also indicated the date and time the individual should make their court appearance.

"After the amnesty period, the court will aggressively send police officers out to arrest all persons who have outstanding warrants," James added.

Individuals who have outstanding warrants for the 22nd District Court should contact the court immediately by dialing 277-8200 for the time and date of their court appearance or for more information.

was not a shred of evidence to support the theory that Krystal Cheeks, Pasley's former girlfriend, wanted the victim dead because he had shunned her.

In statements to the police after his arrest, Clinton Cheeks stated that the shooting was accidental.

Givens said the homicide

"was not an accident. They intentionally went to Pasley's home to kill him for the money."

Asked why anyone would use juveniles to carry out a "hit", Givens replied that if convicted (for felony murder) as juveniles they would be incarcerated until they were 21, but as adult offenders, if found guilty of the same charge they could face up to life in prison.

Apples ripe for the picking

As the crisp, cool days of fall arrive, they bring the apple crop to its peak of perfection.

Red Delicious, Jonathans, Golden Delicious, McIntosh, Rome and Ida Red apples are being harvested in Michigan orchards to be made into cider or used for applesauce, jelly, jam and juice.

One of the special treats of fall is a visit to a cider mill for freshly pressed cold cider and warm, fresh doughnuts. The visit can become a family outing for youngsters and adults. Youngsters can enjoy the drive to the country to visit the cider mill, and help to pick the apples, while adult members of the family can reminisce about their childhood visits to the orchard as they bite into a crisp, fresh picked apple.

One of the pick-your-own orchards that is popular with western Wayne County residents is Davies Orchard and Cider Mill, 40026 Willow Road, New Boston, where the individuals pictured enjoyed an afternoon of cider sipping and apple picking.

A 34-year-old Westland man, charged with sexually assaulting an 11-year-old girl, was bound over to Detroit Records Court for trial on Thursday after waiving a preliminary examination before 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos.

Richard Alan Robertson could face up to 15 years in prison if convicted of second-degree criminal sexual conduct (CSC). Robertson was released on a $5,000 personal bond pending trial.

The alleged incident occurred on July 18 at the home of the girl's aunt, located on the 200 block of Waterbury Street in Westland, Westland police Sgt. Michael Terry said.

Robertson, who is the live-in boyfriend of the girl's aunt, was allegedly playing on the livingroom floor with the victim, wrapped the girl up in the blanket and began tickling her.

Robertson allegedly put his hand under the blanket and fondled the youth's breasts and rubbed her vagina, Terry said.

The victim reported the alleged incident to her mother, who then notified police. Robertson denied the charges.

Three 17-year-old Westland men were robbed at the Taco Bell restaurant, located at 2307 S. Wayne Road in Westland, early Sunday morning, Westland police said.

The teens, who were sitting inside the restaurant eating, were allegedly robbed by four other area teenagers, police said.

Police were notified that the four alleged attackers were wearing black and red flannel shirts and while en route to the scene, saw three juveniles matching the descriptions walking into the Dunkin Donuts restaurant, located at 1625 S. Wayne Road in Westland.

Officers stopped and talked with the suspects, and found a metal pipe and crack cocaine in one of the alleged robber's front pant pockets. Police also found a 2-3/4 inch blade in the front pant pocket of another alleged perpetrator and a marijuana pipe in the front pant pocket of the third alleged robber, police reports said.

Police arrested the teen found carrying the metal pipe and crack cocaine who admitted to being at the Taco Bell restaurant. Police transported the two other alleged attackers to Taco Bell, where they were identified by the victims, police reports said.

The victims told police that the teen found to be carrying the knife in his pocket walked behind one of the three victims and held the knife against his throat demanding money.

"Give me all your wallets. I'm taking your money," the attacker said, according to police reports.

The victims complied and while one of the alleged attackers went through their wallets, another perpetrator allegedly blocked the incident from the view of store employees, police said.

Two of the victims were not carrying money, while the third lost $3 to the alleged robbers.

Area wide fourth Friday county reveals few surprises

In the never-ending game of changing the way the state finances schools, state legislators apparently have again changed the rules on how schools will receive state aid for the 1994-95 school year.

"Last year, the fourth Friday count was used as the basis for the following school year budget," noted Dr. Edmond L. Beverly, superintendent of Inkster schools. "This year that has changed."

In the wake of numerous complaints from school finance directors who usually are the architects of the school budgets, the state again has changed the rule.

The new rule stipulates that school districts must use the count, using 50 percent of the 1993 and 50 percent of 1994 student count. The figures remain based on the traditional fourth Friday count of students in the classrooms on that day.

"The compromise has apparently satisfied the school finance community," Dr. Beverly added.

Finance directors argued that figures used by the state one year after the fact was not an accurate reflection of the actual count. They hope the new system would correct the situation.

In the meantime, Dr. Beverly said that the Inkster School District count shows that the district has two more students than it did a year ago. The fourth Friday count showed that there were 2,155 students enrolled in the kindergarten through 12th grade program this year.

Westwood School District officials said on Friday that their figures for the 1993-94 school year were not available at this time.

When the Oct. 1 count was finished in the Van Buren Public Schools, 93 more students were enrolled than in the 1992-93 school year.

Enrollment for kindergarten through 12th grade for the current term is 6,216, compared to 6,123 last year.

A slight increase in enrollment was expected, according to Superintendent James Richendollar.

Several new housing developments are being constructed in Belleville and Van Buren Township as well as in parts of Sumpter Township, all of which are within the Van Buren Public Schools boundaries.

As Governor John Engler delivered his proposed education plan including a $4500 federal allowance for each Michigan student, Plymouth-Canton School officials worked to determine the fourth Friday count of students in the district.

The fourth Friday count is an accounting of all students attending district schools as of that day. That number is then used to determine the amount of funding used to educate each student for the year.

According to Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, the fourth Friday count indicated 14,910 students were attending public school in the district. "That's down 88 students from last year," commented an unsurprised Hoben. "We stay within range of a 100 student shift each year. This year, we saw a drop in our elementary and high schools, while our middle schools remained the same."

Using the statistics from the count, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will spend an estimated $5,245 on each student. Engler's proposed $4500 falls just under $800 short for students in the district.

The annual fourth Friday count in the Wayne-Westland schools this year shows a slight increase from enrollment last year enrollment with 15,548 in kindergarten through 12th grade, but overall count is expected to be very close to the last year total.

Superintendent of Wayne-Westland Schools Dr. Larry Thomas said he is not surprised with the count.

"We do have an increase in the junior high and high school enrollment, but it's pretty close to our projections," Thomas said.

Thomas said the vocational education enrollment and the community education enrollment will not have a final count until sometime next week. Although Thomas expects the vocational enrollment to be about the same as last year, he does expect about a 20 percent decrease in the community education program enrollment.

The total enrollment projection for the 1993/94 school year is 16,487 students, Thomas explained.

In Romulus, the slowdown in school population slippage has begun, Superintendent Dr. William Bedell revealed.

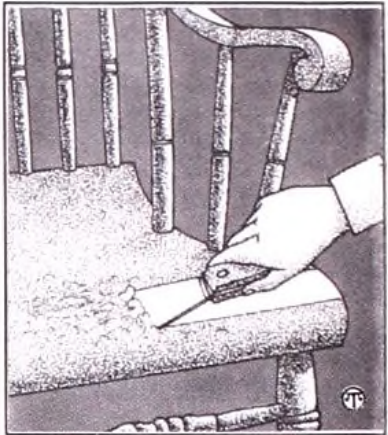

While last year we lost about 100 students, the 1993 count was a loss of 59, Bedell said.

The heaviest drops were in the middle school, a drop of 25 students, and senior high and Halecreek Elementary School, each showing an 18 student drop.

The only Romulus school to show an increase was Barth Elementary School, with an increase of 27 students. The increase was due mostly to the switching of about 45 students living in the Morgan Manor housing development to Barth School area, Assistant Superintendent Terrel LeCesne said.

The figures mean little in the state funding system, Bedell said, since we are an out of formula district. "Actually we save money if we have a lower pupil count," he concluded.

Most of the school population cuts were caused by Detroit Metro Airport expansion, which eliminated a number of homes in the district in recent years, Bedell said.

Removing the old finish is the first step to restoring furniture—and it can be easy to do yourself.

Schools react to "choice" plan, tax cuts

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Is Gov. John Engler's school finance plan a tax cut, a tax shift or a tax hike?

Engler administration forces claim it is a definite tax cut. Some educators and home owners complain it is only a tax shift.

Engler on Tuesday revealed, as expected, that he would seek a 2 percent sales tax hike, add 50 cents tax on cigarettes and raise single business taxes by 2.85 percent.

The Engler plan also would add 16 mills on second homes and commercial and industrial properties, a 4 percent tax on home sales and would eliminate tax credits for Homestead property and city income taxes.

Joel Carr, assistant Romulus Community Schools superintendent in charge of finances and operation, protested long and loud that Engler's much discussed school finance effort is really a tax hike for the state.

"Using their (Michigan Treasury Dept.) own figures, we can see that some homeowners total taxes will be increased, because of the federal tax write offs that will be eliminated by the Senate Bill 1 tax cut," Carr said.

Figures supplied by Carr, that reportedly were prepared by the Office of Revenue and Tax Analysis, Michigan Department of the Treasury, show for instance a $6.977 billion property tax cut mandated by Senate Bill 1. This would be balanced off with a $3.360 billion state tax increase, a $1.830 billion sales tax hike, a $190 million K-12 property tax; a $383 million Intermediate School District property tax, a $88 million increase in Public Act 198 levels (tax abatements for industry), a $49 million state utility property tax increase and $774 million more for local government allocated mills.

This would show a $303 million tax decrease, Carr said, but when you add in the $500 million federal tax increase, it would total out to a $197 million tax increase payments for persons and industries throughout Michigan.

How this would impact each and every taxpayer is unclear at the moment, Carr said, since there are so many variables.

Carr said Engler has done a "skilled job on property taxes, but we don't know yet how the replacement taxes will crawl back on us.

"We do know that the Engler administration claim that out-of-state residents will pay heavily into the sales tax hike is false. Most 'tourists' in Michigan are persons traveling from one part of the state to another, rather than out-of-staters," Carr said.

In Romulus, Engler's plan could also force the school district to go back on its 1990 pledge and seek a 1.77 mill hike to make ourselves whole, Carr said.

The school district vowed no future millage hikes in 1990 when it successfully sought a $45 bond issue to make Romulus one of the most technologized school districts in the nation.

Meanwhile Wayne-Westland School Superintendent Dr. Larry Thomas declared Engler's school finance reform "is just not very good for us."

"We've lost 10 mills from last year and Engler's plan bases the new funding on money spent on students this year," Thomas said.

"I'd rather see it based on the amount from last year," he continued.

But "I'm glad he is trying to put something together. But I don't think it's equitable that some districts can ask for additional funding and some cannot," Thomas concluded.

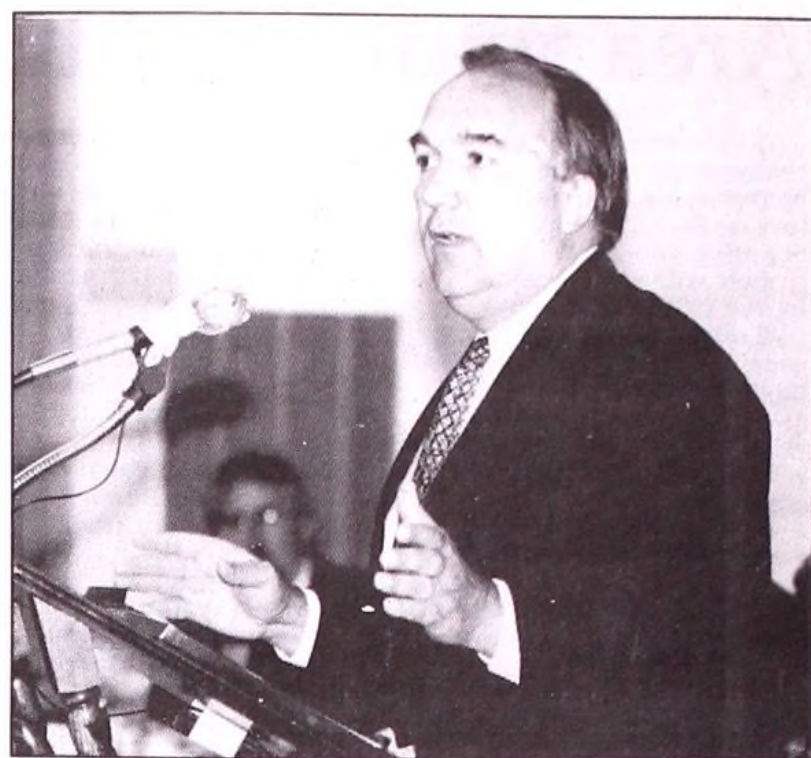

Jack Hosmer, director of business affairs for the Van Buren Public Schools, said, "The only thing we are certain of at this point, is that the proposals made by the governor will be changed dramatically before their final adoption."

In the Plymouth-Canton School District, Superintendent of Schools Dr. John Hoben said with Engler's plan "we will lose about $1 million from the state."

Hoben "expects the Michigan legislature to make a lot of changes in Engler's plan...but under the listed restrictions we have no (revenue) options."

"Charter schools and schools of choice would be an option our district would look at," he said. "It will be interesting to see what charter schools and schools of choice will do for Plymouth-Canton, where we have a situation where we are already overcrowded and have been for some time."

Other forces also are expressing opposition to the Engler plan. The powerful Michigan Association of Realtors revealed shortly after Engler's tax talk that they were in "absolute opposition" to a critical portion that proposes a 4 percent transfer on home sales.

For instance, on a sale of a $100,000 home, the planned tax would cost the home seller $4,000. It is estimated if the tax is approved it would raise $479 million a year for schools.

Meanwhile, it has been reported that leaders of the Michigan Education Association are urging union members to collect 129,000 signatures by April 1, 1994 to block the property tax cut.

Romulus Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell said the Michigan Out of Formula District Association will meet on Oct. 19 to consider joining such an effort to collect signatures.

If such a petition drive is successful, the tax cuts could be delayed until after a statewide vote is held in November 1994.

Landmark firefighters' pact signed

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

When Van Buren Township officials and township firefighters signed a three-year pact last week, it marked a first for on-call personnel in the Michigan.

"This was the first union contract for on-call firefighters in the state," said Tom Jankowski of the Michigan Association of Fire Fighters (MAFF). "I've been told that many other on-call firefighters were awaiting the outcome of these negotiations before seeking representation for their own departments."

"I expect my phone will start ringing when the news gets out," Jankowski said.

The three-year contract calls for a 3 percent wage increase each year plus an extra 50 cents an hour for licensed emergency technicians and those with specialized training for underwater rescue and recovery and hazardous materials handling.

"The township was not opposed to giving extra money to those who are more qualified. It is nice to have employers recognize their employees' efforts," Jankowski said.

Jankowski said the most important issues for the township firefighters were work rules and grievance procedures.

"They wanted to have their work rules and grievance procedure in black and white, so that one person would not be treated more harshly than another for a minor infraction," Jankowski said.

The contract also includes uniforms and calls for the replacement of damaged private property while on duty plus a drug testing policy and safety issues.

Van Buren Township Fire Chief Alan Smolen said he believes the contract is "fair and equitable" for everyone.

The department has 33 part-time firefighters.

In the nine counties in Southeastern Michigan, there are 48 paid full-time fire departments, 81 with part-time paid employees, 33 with a com-ination of paid of full-time and part-time employees and 35 volunteer departments.

"Part-paid firefighters make up the largest number of firefighters in the state with 14,504. They are the largest single group of firefighters," Jankowski said. "There are 7,276 full-paid firefighters and 8,176 non-paid."

Jankowski noted that most of the Detroit-area departments have full-time paid employees, but this is not true outside of the Detroit area.

Police probe robbery

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 14-year-old Westland youth was robbed of a gold chain and pendant outside the Meijers store located at 37201 Warren Road in Westland, according to police reports.

The youth was walking with a 13-year-old witness on the east side of the store when three teens in a vehicle yelled something unknown to the 14-year-old as they walked passed, police reports said.

The vehicle traveled westbound around the building out of sight and the teens kept walking. Shortly after, the youths saw two of the teens, who were passengers in the vehicle, standing behind a van. The boys recognized the teens from the vehicle that they previously passed, police said.

The perpetrators allegedly jumped in front of them and one of them said, "Is this the one that beat you up?" to the other perpetrator. The second attacker replied, "Yeah. That's him," police reports said.

The robber then asked the 14-year-old if he had a "B" pendant on his necklace. The youth said he did, police said, and the robber grabbed the necklace and pushed the youth backward while pulling on his necklace, breaking it.

Both perpetrators fled westbound.

Spectacular Fall colors lure drivers north

Fall colors are expected to be spectacular this season due to the sunny days and cool nights.

"We're looking at a traditional fall color season with trees changing as early as mid-September in the western end of the Upper Peninsula," said Peter Erickson, member services director. "If we experience bright, sunny days and cool nights, the intensity of color should be phenomenal."

If the good weather continues, the 1993 fall color season should be a spectacular one, according to AAA Michigan.

Wet weather earlier in the summer encouraged healthy growth of the trees, which means leaves will be bigger and brighter when they turn to autumn shade, according to Professor Melvin Koelling of Michigan State University (MSU).

Koelling noted that fall color is more dependable near bodies of water, because the humidity is higher and growing conditions more dependable. The peak time for viewing can run up to a week later near lakes than in forested areas, the MSU professor said.

It is possible to predict your favorite shades of color in advance. Tree species and other deciduous plants which generally produce red leaves include red maple, sumac and burning bush. Tree with a yellow tinge are aspen, basswood and white ash. The color orange is sumac, sugar maple and dogwood, and reddish brown or brown is found in some oaks and beech.

Travelers don't have to go far to see a dazzling spectacle of fall color. In fact, a 31-mile trip through four Huron-Clinton Metroparks, beginning at Lower Huron Metropark in Belleville and ending at Lake Erie Metropark, will reward visitors with an abundance of color in mid- to late-October.

Visitors around the state will find a canvas of 65 species of trees in 18 million acres of forest. The show will peak in mid- to late-September in the Upper Peninsula and northern tip of the Lower Peninsula. Late September marks the peak in the remaining northern third of the Lower Peninsula, early- to mid-October in Mid-Michigan and mid- to late-October in southern lower Michigan.

The Automobile Club of Michigan has created eight driving routes this year that focus on fall color in state parks and forests. The route range from 67 to 139 miles and from one hour, 45 minutes to three hours. Free copies of the routes are available to the public at all AAA Michigan full-services branches in the state.

Bus safety rules are reviewed

With schools now open, both motorists and students need to take extra caution near school buses.

The Pupil Transportation Act of 1990 requires all vehicles to come to a complete stop at least 20 feet from a school bus with overhead red lights flashing. Vehicles may proceed only when the overhead red flashing lights have been turned off.

Upon approaching a school bus with overhead yellow flashing lights, drivers should use caution and prepare to stop.

Drivers do not need to stop when a school bus has the overhead red lights flashing on the opposite side of a street divided into two separate roadways.

When only yellow hazard lights are flashing, vehicles may proceed with caution past the bus.

Safety points for student bus riders to remember include:

- Do not cross the road until signaled to do so by the bus driver

- Make sure the bus comes to a full stop before entering or exiting

- Don't go after anything that rolls under or in front of the bus, instead tell the driver about it

- Never walk right in front of the bus, behind the bus or close to the sides or wheels

- Know where the emergency doors and windows are

- Arrive at the bus stop about five minutes early

- Line up when the bus approaches
